DEMOCRATS VIE TO GIVE SUPPORT TO DEAL POLICIES

Administration Leaders
Give Al Smith Uncom-

His Projected 'Walk' for Presidential Campaign.

ROBINSON TO REPLY TO TALK TONIGHT

John Kirby Promises Attempt Will Be Made To Prevent Renomination of Garner and Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(AP)—New Deal supporters in congress and the democratic organization today gave Alfred E. Smith an uncompromising send-off on his projected "walk" for the presidential campaign.

Indicating the trend, the title announced for the official reply to Smith by Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, tomorrow night was "The Hands of Esau."

Esau, the Bible relates, "sold his birthright" for a mess of pottage. Hours of dispute in the house of the Liberty League speech Saturday night by the former New York governor preceded the announcement. Democrats vied to pledge allegiance to the New Deal. Republican speakers hailed the Smith views as at one with their own. No democrat upheld him.

Hay Denounces Smith. Addressing the National Democratic League here tonight, Charles M. Hay, democratic senatorial nominee in Missouri in the Smith-Hoover campaign, referred to Smith as the "lost leader" and to the President as "the new Happy Warrior."

He is now a special assistant to the attorney-general. Hay spoke derisively of "Smith and those about the billion dollar banquet table," quoted the New Yorker as saying in 1928 that "the cry of socialism has been raised by the powerful interests" against him, and added:

"Smith has broken with his past—apparently forgotten the sidewalk and the people of the country, except to remember them for oratorical purposes—broken his public pledges and commitments as a candidate for President in 1928, and Roosevelt has kept the faith. That's the explanation of the wide gulf between the two."

Smith Silent. At his office in New York, Smith declined to discuss his address. Speculation about the "walk" he said he probably would take if the Philadelphia convention indorses the administration continued.

Some were inclined to look for a campaign to influence the convention. That failing, no one professed to know whether he would support a republican ticket or sojourn abroad during the campaign.

It was hinted in New York that he "might have something more to say after the speech by Senator Robinson, his vice presidential running mate in 1928."

Instead of beginning at 10:45 as originally planned, Robinson's broadcast was from 10 to 10:30 p. m. (E. S. T.). Over the Columbia system. (The speech will be broadcast in Atlanta by station WGST from 9 to 9:30 o'clock.)

Whatever Smith does, an attempt in the south to prevent renomination of the Roosevelt-Garner ticket was promised by John Henry Kirby, He and Governor Talmadge, of Georgia, sponsors of the anti-administration rally to be held Wednesday at Macon, agreed after a conference that principles and not selection of an independent

OFFICERS TESTIFY TO CHIEF'S ORDER TO RETURN AUTOS

Two Policemen Allege Sturdiant Authorized Release to Owens; Grand Jurors Ignore Summons

Despite testimony of two police officers that Chief of Police T. O. Sturdiant ordered the return of three impounded liquor cars to Ralph Owens with the statement "I don't give a damn if it is booked as a liquor car, release it," it developed that the chief will predicate his defense on the basis that liquor charges against the machines "were made subsequent to the release."

The trend of the probe of police affairs came at the second session of the committee, at which Mayor Key criticized grand jury presentments, which he said are not backed up by facts enough to enable the police committee to make a thorough investigation.

Committee members appealed to City Attorney Jack C. Savage for the authority of the committee to force attendance of grand jury members, but got little comfort. Savage ruled that the committee could book cases of contempt against them for failing to attend but held that if the members did attend they could not be forced to talk.

Grand Jurors Missing. Subpoenas had been issued to H. A. Fussell and Sloan Truscott, members of the November-December grand jury which criticized the police department severely, but they failed to answer.

Thomas A. Moye, foreman of the same grand jury, ignored an invitation to appear before the committee and said he had not received any of $6,800 which was paid in cash by the city when first negotiations to buy Colman's land were made. The purchase was later enjoined by court order.

Key quoted Colman as replying, "The mayor said he then asked Colman who the politicians were, but Colman answered he could not recall their names."

Purchase Is Asked. The mayor's revelations came as Alderman J. C. (Mott) Aldridge and Councilman John T. Marler, neither of whom were in office when the White park negotiations began, called on Colman to sell the land.

Key told them he would be glad to have the park, but said he would never consent to buy the land at the price asked by Dr. Colman, which is approximately $60,000.

"I would see Dr. Colman 30 miles deep in hell before I would pay that exorbitant price. He is trying to hold the city up and that is a thing I will not stand for," Key declared. "Wait a minute, I want to amend that statement. I would see him 300 miles deep in hell before I would pay that price, he added."

Payment Termined Unreasonable. "Dr. Colman paid $15,000 for that property and the city has already paid him more than $30,000 for it," said Key. "Now he wants to sell it to the city for $60,000, which would make a total of $90,000. He wants to realize from his $15,000 investment. Other property has diminished in value throughout the city and it is not reasonable to pay any such sum."

A suggestion that the city rent the Colman land if no means of purchasing it can be reached was advanced by the West End Businessmen's Association, which scored the "business acumen" of the councilmen who vote the city, because all others have got courses. A letter setting forth the views of the association has been mailed.

The association also declared that in its opinion loss of the park "smacks of partiality" to other sections of the city, because all others have got courses. A letter setting forth the views of the association has been mailed.

King Edward and Three Brothers Pay Last Visit to Late Monarch

Crowned Heads of European Nations Dine With New British Ruler With Table Set in Gold Plate Valued at $10,000,000.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—(Tuesday)—King Edward VIII and his three brothers stood guard over the coffin of their late father, King George V, in Westminster Hall for half an hour early this morning.

The royal brothers arrived unannounced shortly after midnight and kept their last solemn vigil with the former monarch who is to be buried today.

Their visit followed a solemn state dinner in Buckingham palace, at which many of the crowned heads of Europe sat about a table set with gold plate estimated to be worth 2,000,000 pounds (about $10,000,000). Then there had been a reception at the palace for representatives of foreign nations.

The new king came into the tapetill gloom of Westminster Hall wearing a full dress uniform of a colonel of the Welsh Guards. The Duke of York wore the full dress uniform of the air force; the Duke of Gloucester, that of the Hussars; and the Duke of Kent, that of the navy.

The seemingly endless chain of mourners filing through the hall during the early hours was astonished to see King Edward and his three brothers.

They stood with their heads reverently bowed before their father's catafalque, leaving at 12:30 a. m. The news of their visit spread quickly through the crowd outside. The brothers drove away in a royal automobile.

By special command of the king himself, the public was permitted to continue its pilgrimage even during the royal vigil. It was estimated that between 7,000 and 8,000 persons passed through the hall while the late monarch's sons stood guard.

The king and his brothers took their places by the coffin in an unobtrusive manner, relieving the four watching officers with the customary ceremonial salute.

Then, with their gloved hands folded over the hilts of their swords, which were pointed toward the ground, they bowed their heads and kept watch.

The king and the Duke of Gloucester stood at the corners at the foot of the coffin.

BANKS OPPOSING PAPER INDUSTRY, DR. HERTY CLAIMS

Newsprint Manufacture
New Economic Problem, Foresters Told; Struggle for Material Seen.

Establishment of a newsprint industry in the south is no longer a technical question, but an economic one, speakers before the Society of American Foresters agreed yesterday.

Dr. Charles Herty, Savannah scientist who developed the process for making newsprint from southern pine, charged "pressure of banks and propaganda throughout the south" were holding back the development of the industry. He said southern-made newsprint could be delivered in New York cheaper than that from the northern regions of the continent.

G. E. Behre, director of the Northeastern United States Forestry Experiment Station at New Haven, Conn., forecast a struggle between the paper and saw mill industries for raw material in the event newsprint making is placed on a commercial basis in the south.

Owner Co-operation Seen. I. F. Eldridge, director of the Southern Forestry Experiment Station at New Orleans, predicted that, in the event of demand for southern timber for newsprint making, private owners would sell rather than hold it long enough for use as sawmill timber.

Behre said newsprint development held a threat for other industries. "It would absorb almost a major part of southern forest production," he said. "If it assumes major importance in point of volume of timber used, it will be at the expense of other forest industries and will imply a

NAMED ON RESERVE BOARD TO RESERVE BOARD

Atlanta Banker Nominated for 6-Year Term
by President Roosevelt.

Ronald Ransom, executive vice president of the Fulton National Bank, yesterday was one of the six outstanding bankers of the country named by President Roosevelt for membership on the new federal reserve board.

Mr. Ransom was appointed for a term of six years. His confirmation by the senate is expected within a few days.

If, as anticipated, Mr. Ransom's appointment is confirmed, he must, under the law, sever all connection with the bank and also must dispose of his stock. Mr. Ransom will go to Washington later in the week. Providing confirmation is voted by that time, Mr. Ransom is expected to begin his new duties next Monday.

One Appointment Open. President Roosevelt named six of the seven members of the new board, leaving one appointment, that representing agriculture, to be made later. Besides Mr. Ransom, the nominations follow:

Marriner S. Eccles, Salt Lake City; N. S. Strydom, Chicago; Joseph A. E. Roderick, of New York, for a 14-year term; John McKee, of Ohio, for 10 years; and Ralph W. Morrison, of Texas, for two years.

The President left one vacancy, to be filled by a representative of agriculture, but his appointments automatically would remove four of the present members of the board: J. Thomas, Charles S. Hamilton, Adolph C. Miller and George R. James.

Mr. Ransom has been an executive of the Fulton bank since 1922. Prior to becoming its vice president and trust officer, Mr. Ransom was a member of the law firm of Smith, Hastings & Ransom. He is a son-in-law of the late Hoke Smith, former governor, senator and senator.

NRA Code Chairman. The Atlanta is a former president of the Georgia Bankers' Association and also a former chairman of the banking management committee of the American Bankers' Association. He also served as banking code committee chairman under the NRA.

Mr. Ransom is 54 years old. He is a native of Columbia, S. C., and a graduate of the University of Georgia.

An approving word from Senator Glass foreshadowed quick senate confirmation for the six members.

It's a pretty safe bet, Senator Glass commented, despite the inclusion of Marriner S. Eccles, of Utah, upon whom the Virginian has waged unrelenting war since his original appointment as governor of the old board.

Eccles, named for a four-year term, was not specifically designated by the chief executive as chairman, but the President had previously said he would hold that post.

The only other member of the present board is Mr. C. V. Starr.

SPEDING PRESSES TURN OUT BLANKS FOR APPLICATIONS

Presidential Statement Is Issued, Warning Vets That Magnitude of Job of Paying Off Will Require Many Months.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Quickly accepting a climactic senate vote of 76 to 19 as sealing the overthrow of his bonus veto, President Roosevelt today sent orders down the line to pay off the $2,491,000,000 soldiers' bill as quickly as "accuracy will permit."

No word of disappointment or chagrin, no hint as to the possibility of new taxes came from the White House as the senate in a thrashing bi-partisan ballot—with a two-thirds majority never in doubt—declined to accept the President's disapproval of the bill for immediate payment in $50 cashable bonds. The house previously had voted 324 to 61 to override.

In the second of two statements issued quickly from the White House, however, the President opened a drive to lessen the strain on the treasury by arguing to veterans that they should not cash their bonds but hold them as "nest eggs."

After a speedily arranged conference with the national committees of the three major veterans' organizations, Mr. Roosevelt authorized a press release urging veterans to prevent "frittering away" of cash from the bonds.

"Useful Purpose." "Permanent advantage as opposed to wholly temporary pleasure should be the criterion," said the statement, urging again that the bonds not be cashed except for a "useful purpose," and apparently taking cognizance of the spending splurge indulged in by some veterans after they were permitted to borrow up to 50 per cent on their certificates in 1931.

Admiral C. V. Wherry, who estimated that not more than $1,000,000,000 will be needed to meet the first rush of demands for cashing the bonds, and the president apparently intended to keep the figure below this if possible.

Within little more than two hours, however, Mr. Roosevelt issued a statement that the treasury and veterans' administration had been directed to pay as soon as possible. He warned of the "magnitude" of the task—requiring "between 2,500 and 3,000 additional personnel working for approximately six months to do this job. He urged "patience" upon veterans. He urged "patience" upon veterans. He urged "patience" upon veterans.

LEGALITY DOUBTS DELAY FARM BILL

Wallace and Davis, However, Hold Measure Is Both Valid, Practical.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Constitutional doubts kept the administration from replacing the measure in the senate agriculture committee tonight despite argument from Secretary Wallace and Chester Davis, administrator, said "if any farm bill is valid and practical."

Various reactions to the proposal to carry on a part of the functions of the old AAA by amendment of the soil conservation act to permit farm subsidies for reducing producing acreage was shown by committee men.

Senator Schwellenbach, democrat, Washington, said "if any farm bill is valid and practical."

At a press conference late in the day, Davis said:

"I don't think there isn't any question at all that when the bill gets over on a states' relations basis it will be wholly constitutional in every respect."

The proposed measure would provide a federal soil conservation program, with payments to farmers, for two years, after which the program would be administered by state agencies co-operating with the federal government. Payments during the first two years would be made subject to conditions, but without contract.

Davis also believed the temporary part of the plan was constitutional, saying the primary objective was soil conservation.

He quoted a part of the supreme court's AA decision in support of his argument—"let the ends be legitimate."

Chairman Smith, democrat, South Carolina, announced Solicitor-General Stanley Reed had been invited to come before the committee tomorrow to discuss the legal questions involved.

"Secretary Wallace and Mr. Davis took the bill in its present form and explained to the committee why they believed the bill as now written is constitutional and practical," Smith said.

I think I can state the prime object of the committee is to improve

Cobb Says: Here's To Warm Springs

By IRVIN S. COBB.
(Copyright, 1936, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)
HOUSTON, Texas, Jan. 27.—Apparently there'll be a considerable number who, when the polls close next November, won't rush the telegraph office to wire President Roosevelt wishing him "many happy returns." But I defy you to find anyone who won't join in that same chorus on his birthday—a birthday dedicated by the first citizen of the land and by his fellow citizens to fostering about as noble a movement as you could think of. To be given the power and personality to rouse popular interest and enlist popular support in a plan of saving children from most grievous affliction is a blessing that has been vouchsafed to mighty few men.

So here's to you, Mr. Roosevelt. And to your good health. And to your Warm Springs—may they never grow cool.

THREE MEN ARRESTED IN $2,000 BANK HOLDUP

GREENSBORO, N. C., Jan. 27.—
(AP)—Sheriff J. S. Phipps said today the $2,000 holdup of the Worthville Mill, near Asheboro, January 7, had been solved with the arrest of three men.

Those held were booked as Archie
Safertight, 22, of Greensboro; Thomas
E. Cranford, 25, of High Point, and
M. J. Moore, 26, of Atlanta.
Phipps said purchases made by the men at a filling station and paid for entirely with dimes caused suspicion and led to their connection with the robbery.

Atlanta police have no record of a man by the name of M. J. Moore.

RADIO WORKERS ASKED TO JOIN WITH A. F. OF L.

Local Unions Are Urged by Green To Affiliate With National Body.

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 27.—(AP)—The men who make the nation's radio sets —some 9,000 of them already organized in local unions—were invited today to affiliate with the American Federation of Labor's Electrical Workers' Union.

A charter of their own, for which the radio workers had applied, was denied them because the federation's executive council believed two international unions in closely related fields might cause confusion over jurisdiction.

"The council finally decided," President William Green announced, "that the interests of the radio workers would best be served through affiliation with the electrical workers."
James B. Carey, of Philadelphia, president of the radio workers' council, was informed telegraphically existing locals might join the Electrical Workers without paying initiation fees, on exactly the same footing as present members.

At today's session, the council also heard Spencer Miller Jr., secretary of the federation's workers' educational bureau, report on recent institutes and radio speeches designed to acquaint workers with legislation affecting them.

It discussed, as well, creation of a legal defense committee, as the Atlantic City convention proposed, and instructed Green to present full data at the next meeting in May.

STONE IS SENTENCED TO DIE FOR SLAYING

Murderer of 14-Year-Old
Louise Stammer Admits Crime.

FRESNO, Cal., Jan. 27.—(AP)—Elton Stone, former convict, was sentenced to death today for the slaying of Mary Louise Stammer, 14, daughter of a prominent Fresno family. He pleaded guilty while closely guarded against possible mob violence.

Men shook fists at the ex-convict and one youth shouted "Let's take Stone" as officers carrying tear gas grenades hustled him through some 2,000 persons outside the courthouse and lining its corridors.

Three highway patrolmen stepped up to the youth and he retreated without further outcries.

Stone, stocky, 31-year-old garage mechanic, hid his face in an overcoat as he was hurried before Superior Judge T. R. Thomson to admit shooting the girl through a window as she sat reading alone in her home one Sunday night last November.

The slayer then broke into the house and disrobed the dying girl before he was frightened away, apparently by returning members of the family.

District Attorney Dan Conway said Stone gave a statement admitting the slaying but offering no motive other than that he held a "grudge" against Walter H. Stammer, father of the girl.

committee which met in Atlanta last week will be accompanied by A. B.
Lovett, of Savannah, the chairman of the Atlanta meeting.

Senator Walter F. George and Representative Carl Vinson, of Georgia, joined in sending Mr. Allen a telegram today asking him to come to Washington at his early convenience for a conference with the delegation. Subsequently they received a reply saying that he and Lovett will be here Saturday.

A dean of the delegation Representative Vinson announced he would call a meeting of the state group to confer with the two Georgians upon their arrival. Plans for conducting the President's campaign for delegates to the Philadelphia national convention in the event of a preferential primary will be gone over and organization details perfected.

Before naming Manager Allen and Lovett are expected to also confer with President Roosevelt and officials of the democratic national committee.
Postmaster-General James A. Farley, the national party chairman, is away on a visit to Miami but other committee officials will be available.

Delegation members in discussing the action of the special committee had nothing but praise today for the work of Mr. Allen as state manager. It was agreed that he is well qualified for leading the President's friends against any opposition in a primary raised to sending a Roosevelt-inspired slate of delegates to the approaching national convocation.

While Postmaster-General Farley is yet to approve the selection there were no doubts on this score. President Roosevelt himself is already reported to have given his wholehearted endorsement of the program and Mr. Farley will, of course, join with others in soon as the matter is taken up with him.

A meeting of the delegation with Judge Lovett and Mr. Allen Saturday will be timely in that the several congressmen and two senators will be able to know by then more definitely what Governor Talmadge has in mind.
His rump meeting of disgruntled southern democrats at Macon takes place in the interim, opening the way for further light to be thrown on the plans of Roosevelt's opponents.

Needless to say, members of the delegation will watch proceedings of the Macon meeting closely, shaping their own plans accordingly.

Senator George predicted the President would be renominated on the first ballot at the national convention.

The prediction was made in a telegram to R. L. M. Parks, managing editor of the Augusta Chronicle, who George said sent him the following telegram:

"Understand Governor Talmadge has offered to carry delegation to convention to vote for Roosevelt after first ballot, provided his delegation is allowed to be seated without a contest.
First ballot, we are told, he reserves as complimentary to himself. Please confirm by wire tonight, if possible."

George replied:

"Governor Talmadge has submitted no proposal to me. There will be but one ballot in the Philadelphia convention and President Roosevelt will be nominated on that ballot."

FURNITURE GROUP TO HEAR PRESIDENT

B. F. McLain, National Association Head, Will Address Meeting Here.

Atlanta merchants will hear an address by B. F. McLain, of Dallas, president of the National Retail Furniture Association, at a dinner-meeting to be held at 6:30 o'clock tonight at the Athletic Club. The speaker will outline the program of the national association for 1936.

Mr. McLain is on a tour throughout the south to confer with furniture and department store executives and merchandise managers. He will speak here under the auspices of the furniture division of the Retail Merchants' Association. T. O. Dickson, J. W.
Johnson, W. M. Hicks and Clarence
Haverly are in charge.

The visiting president is a graduate of Yale. He has been president of the Texas Retail Furniture Association for three years.

HERE ARE THE REAL FACTS ABOUT BRAN

Brought Out by Tests with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Some years ago, there was considerable difference of opinion regarding the use of bran. So to discover the actual facts of the case, the Kellogg Company asked for a series of laboratory tests at leading universities.

Experimental studies on a group of healthy women showed that the continued use of bran was thoroughly satisfactory. Unlike cat-harts, it did not lose its effect.

Other independent tests on men indicated that, with certain people, the "bulk" in bran was more effective than that found in fruits and vegetables.

Laboratory analysis proved that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplied vitamin B and iron as well as plenty of bulk. This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is gentle in action. It absorbs a great deal of moisture, and cleanses the intestinal tract.

ALL-BRAN corrects constipation due to insufficient "bulk." It is the natural way—far better than using pills and tablets.

Serve as a cereal—or use in cooking.
Sold by all grocers.

By mild ripe tobacco we mean just this—

FIRST—ripened in the sunshine... and picked leaf by leaf from the right part of the stalk when fully ripe.

THEN—each day's picking cured right by the farmer... at the right time and in the right way... no "splotching" or brittleness, but every leaf of good color and flavor.

FINALLY—bought in the open market... re-dried for storage... then packed in wooden hogsheads to age and mellow for two years or more until free from harshness and bitterness.

That's what we mean by mild, ripe tobacco. And that's the kind of tobacco we use to give Chesterfields

WATKINS ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY FOR BENCH

Attorney Will Seek Post Vacated by Judge Howard Who Will Not Run.

Edgar Watkins Sr., prominent Atlanta lawyer, will run for a superior court judgeship this year, he announced yesterday.

Watkins said he will seek the place of Judge G. H. Howard, who, he declared, will not run for re-election. The election will come in September, at which time Judge Hugh M. Dorsey will also be up for re-election.

Watkins has been a member of the Georgia bar for many years. He is president of the board of trustees of Oglethorpe University, and formerly lectured on interstate commerce at the University of Georgia.

A native of Campbell county, he began his schooling there and attended Hatcher Institute before he entered and was graduated from the University of Georgia.

He became a member of the bar in Atlanta, and subsequently practiced in Texas for 12 years. He was also a member of the board of school trustees of Houston, Texas, before he returned here where he became a member of city council.

For three years he heard and decided cases for the Interstate Commerce Commission, and is regarded as an authority on that subject.

In 1909 he wrote a book on railway transportation which has run to its Kill that COLD!

Don't Merely Cuddle It with Half-Way Measures!

A cold is nothing to trifle with! It may end seriously. A cold, being an internal infection, calls for an internal treatment. It also calls for a COLD preparation and not something good for a number of other things as well.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is what a cold requires. It is expressly a cold tablet. It is definite and internal—and it does the four important things. It opens the bowels, combats the infection in the system, relieves the headache and fever and tones and fortifies the system. Don't be satisfied with anything less than that. Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is sold by all druggists. Accept no substitute.

A Baby For You?

If you are denied the blessing of a baby of your own and yearn for a baby's arms and a baby's smile, do not give up hope. Just write in confidence to Mrs. Mildred Owens, Dept. N, 615 Hiram Bldg., Kansas City, Mo., and she will tell you about a simple home method that helped her after being denied 15 yrs. Get Tetterine! This has helped bless their lives. Write now and try for this wonderful happiness.—(adv.)

What to Do for Itchy Inflamed Skin

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?
Do you know why external remedies so seldom give quick and permanent relief?
Why cutting does not remove the cause?
Do you know the cause of Piles is internal?

That there is congestion of blood in the lower bowel—the veins flabby, the parts inflamed?
Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy for itching, bleeding or protruding piles discovered by Dr. J. S. Leonard, known as HEM-ROID that is guaranteed.

HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the cause. It stimulates the circulation in the lower bowel, drives out the thick impure blood, and restores the affected parts.

HEM-ROID is so successful in even the most stubborn cases that "Cure Drug Store" and all good druggists advise every sufferer to get a bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets today—take them as directed—then if not completely satisfied with results—your money back.—(adv.)

NEUTRALITY MEASURE RECEIVED IN HOUSE

Bill Provides President With Broad Powers To Limit Shipments.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(UP)—The administration's neutrality bill was passed today by the house—where trouble for the measure appeared probable.

That the measure already has encountered trouble in its progress through the committee was evidenced in the vote that reported the bill for house action. Five committee members declined to vote and the measure was approved on an 11-to-1 ballot.

Major features of the bill provide: That provisions for mandatory embargoes on shipments of arms, munitions and implements of war to belligerents, expiring February 29 under the present neutrality law, be made permanent.

The President is given broad powers to lay down embargoes on shipments beyond normal trade limits of materials that might be converted to war purposes.

That loans and credits to warring governments and their representatives be limited to amounts sufficient to carry on peacetime trade, with maximum penalties of $50,000 fine and five years' imprisonment for violation.

One phase of the house debate is expected to revolve around demands of some republicans that the bill be made mandatory, particularly about application of embargoes on war materials.

Potential trouble on the senate side was seen in two quarters—the demand of a group led by Senator Johnson, republican, California, that "freedom of the seas" be preserved in whatever law is enacted and in the squabble over incidents of the Nye munitions committee investigation.

Senator Nye, republican, North Dakota, introduced in the senate during the day a resolution seeking $7,389 to wind up the work of the committee. There were indications some democratic senators, irked by Nye's reference to Woodrow Wilson as a "falsifier" in connection with the war diplomatic events, might have much to say about granting the committee more money.

GENERAL PENSION BRANDED 'ABSURD'

V. F. W. Commander Declares Veterans Expect No More Pay.

Demands for a "general World War veteran pension," rumored in recent reports as coming from veteran organizations, is "absolutely ridiculous, absurd and without foundation in fact, truth or precedent," James E. Van Zandt, commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, declared today.

"There is no valid reason to suspect that veteran organizations in the future will ever abandon the principle that has impelled them to seek pension legislation only for those who are disabled and not for those who are able-bodied, the commander declared.

"With the exception of the issue involved in cash payment of World War veterans adjusted certificates," he said, "every piece of veteran welfare legislation ever supported by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States has been confined strictly and solely to the problems of our disabled comrades and their dependents."

Commander Van Zandt pointed out that the "so-called bonus issue" has been only one phase of the general program of his organization, with a uniform pension system for America's disabled veterans and the widows and orphans of those who have died having been advocated for the past several years.

"We demand the elimination of discrimination that exists under present legislation and favor equal consideration for the disabled veterans of all wars," he declared.

GERMANS TO DISCUSS AIR LINK WITH U. S.

BERLIN, Jan. 27.—(UP)—The air ministry announced today that a special German diplomatic mission would go to Washington next month to participate in negotiations for the establishment of a trans-Atlantic airline.

The mission will represent the air ministry, the postoffice, and Luft Hansa, Germany's international, government-subsidized airline.

It will sail early in February for the negotiations which will be between governments.

G-Men Nab Glib Negro For Posing as Officer

Emory M. K. Hillman has quit "putting on the dog."

The alleged negro confidence man, a dusky Beau Brummel and smooth talker, according to G-men of this territory, has completed his last "official" duty as a government investigator.

He is now in custody awaiting removal to Memphis, where he is wanted for defrauding an old negro woman out of $25 by representing himself as a government old-age pensions officer.

Declaring that he was a government agent, he had tried to find out whether persons were thrifty enough to receive an old age pension, he told Mary Biddle, 70, of Memphis, to place her $25 in an envelope to be "inspected," agents here said.

Then, they declared, he pulled the old swapping trick and made away with her money.

Hillman, sleek and debonaire, was arrested on Howell street by G-men yesterday as he was driving alone in his expensive automobile.

Edward E. Conroy, special agent in charge of the local federal bureau of investigation, said the negro had been working the "racket" with the old age pension and numerous other "investigation" ideas for the past several months.

Highway Board Issues Bid Call On $1,100,000 Worth Road Work

Contract Letting Set for February 14; Most of Projects Located in South Georgia; Federal Funds To Be Used.

The State Highway Board yesterday issued a call for bids on approximately $1,100,000 worth of paving, grading and bridge projects which will be let for contract February 14.

All but two of the projects will be paid for out of federal funds. The federal work has been authorized by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads and the details for each individual project approved by the federal district engineer, O. N. Sneed, of Montgomery.

Because bad weather is holding up a number of north Georgia projects already contracted for most of the work to be submitted next month is in south Georgia, although three important north Georgia projects are included.

Troup County Paving. The most important of all projects considered is one which calls for the paving of 10,534 miles in Troup county on the LaGrange-Franklin highway. The other north Georgia projects of importance are in Coweta and Barrow counties. In Coweta the highway board will pave 3.3 miles of the Newnan-Fayetteville road, while in Barrow county it will pave 3,394 miles of the Winndale-Gainesville road.

The projects also include one calling for a new electric signal at the College Park, although three important north Georgia projects are included.

Other projects included in the February 14 letting follow: Grading of 15,500 miles in Wayne and Glynn counties on the Jesup-Brunswick road. This will be let in two contracts.

Paving of 0.275 mile in Morgan county on the Morgan-Newton road. Paving of 0.653 mile in Jasper county on the Jackson-Monticello highway.

Bulloch County Work. Paving of 6,800 miles in Bulloch county on the Statesboro-Metter highway.

Construction of two culverts and one bridge in Brooks county on the Quitman, (Ga.)-Monticello (Fla.) road.

Construction of an overhead bridge, over the Southern Railway in Harris county on the Warm Springs-Columbus highway.

Paving of 11,040 miles in Houston county on the Hawkinsville-Montezuma highway.

Grading of 8,475 miles in Warren county on the Warrenton-Sparta road. Paving of 7,323 miles in Worth and Crisp counties on the Cordelle-Sylvestre highway.

Paving of 6,034 miles in Schley county on the Buena Vista-Ellaville road.

Construction of a bridge over Edward creek in Talbot county on the Talbotton-Manchester road.

Construction of six guard rails in Wilkes county on the Elberton-Washington road.

Paving of 0.983 mile in Sumter county within the city of Americus.

Construction of two overhead bridges in Paulding county, near Dallas.

HOFFMAN TO REFUSE FURTHER BRUNO STAY

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 27.—(UP)—Governor Harold G. Hoffman today said he would grant no further reprieve to Bruno Richard Hauptmann, convicted slayer of the Lindbergh baby, unless "further developments should warrant."

"Will you grant another reprieve to Hauptmann?" Hoffman was asked at his press conference.

"No," he said.

MRS. CLEVELAND DIES AT DAUGHTER'S HOME

Mrs. Arthur L. Cleveland, prominent churchwoman and a resident of Atlanta for 40 years, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Kendall Jordan, 901 Argonne avenue, at the age of 89. Her son-in-law is a member of the circulation department of the Atlanta Journal.

A native of Albans, Ill., Mrs. Cleveland was an active member of the Second Church of Christ, Scientist. She is survived by her husband, a son, Arthur Cleveland Jr., her daughter, and a sister, Mrs. John W. White, of Russellville, Ark.

Funeral services will be announced by H. M. Patterson & Son.

Two cars of a three-car Chicago Rapid Transit Company Southside express jumped the rails on a curve near the Chicago stockyards early today.

None of the cars overturned but the two derailed tottered dizzily on the elevated structure with the front ends overhanging the edge and tilted at an angle of almost 45 degrees over the street, 35 feet below.

Many of the injured were removed by firemen who erected ladders to bring them to safety. The power system was shut off immediately, which added to the confusion, throwing the cars into darkness and cutting off the heat.

Welfare Board To Seek Unification Of Relief Distribution in Meeting

Establishment of Board as Sole Handler of Charity Funds Expected to Improve Efficiency and Eliminate Unworthy.

First move of the Fulton county public welfare board to centralize all charitable organizations aided or supported by the taxpayers came yesterday at a joint meeting of the welfare board and the finance committee of city council.

It was agreed at the special council meeting Wednesday that council will be asked to designate the handling of $42,000 in appropriations to private charities to the board, at the same time it authorizes the regular $40,000 monthly contribution to the welfare board.

Fulton county likewise will be asked to pay all charity donations to the board, which will act as a clearing house for public and private charitable organizations supported wholly or in part by the city and county.

Will Better Relief. Better relief and elimination of the unworthy will thus be effected, it was hoped. Sid Tiller, chairman of the board, emphasized that every charity now aided by the city will receive the same amount agreed upon previously and set out in the appropriation. "We will simply act as clearing house and will pay private charities the money given them by the city and the county," Tiller said. "In some cases we will allocate more to various charities, but we will not reduce the amounts of any."

The $42,000 special appropriation is divided annually among about 20 organizations and is in addition to $40,000 monthly which the city contributes as its share of the relief burden.

The county gives $25,000 to the board now, but its total annual contributions to charity amount to more than $102,000, which the welfare board would also handle.

Would Simplify Task. "If all relief money is checked through our board we will be better able to see what becomes of the tax dollar," Tiller asserted. "The board is set up to give relief to unemployed but general relief work could be improved if all funds were handled by this board."

Mayor Key said he believed the welfare board should handle the city's money.

Council will be asked to authorize the change in method at the Wednesday meeting, at which time the Shrine Mosque situation will be discussed. Further allocations for the sewer program will also be asked.

INDICTMENTS RETURNED IN ARMS CARGO FRAUDS NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted three corporations and four persons on charges of conspiracy to violate the arms embargo act and to defraud the customs.

The indictments, two containing two counts each, were presented to Judge Robert T. Patterson. Substantive counts include the alleged secret export of 15 machine guns in cases containing airplanes to Bolivia during the Chaco dispute.

The defendants are the Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor Company, Inc., the Barr Shipping Corporation, John S. Allard, president of Curtiss Wright Export; Clarence W. Webster, an aviation salesman in South America; Samuel J. Abelow and Robert R. Barr.

ROOT WITNESS STATES WIFE WAS THREATENED

Member of Reconciliation Party on Stand in Slaying Trial.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 22.—(AP)—A member of the "reconciliation party" that preceded the slaying of Brenton Root testified today that the 32-year-old clergyman's son talked of "killing" his wife a few hours before she shot him to death.

Guy H. Scates, a business and personal friend of the Roots, told Mrs. Daisy Alexander Root's murder trial jury that her husband beat her "on numerous occasions" and that on the night before his death, he had remarked he "didn't have to put up with" his wife's hysterics.

The hysterics were occasioned, Scates testified, by an exchange of words with Lucille Underwood, red-haired night club "cigarette girl," whom Mrs. Root blamed for her estrangement from her husband.

Going to Kill Her. "Root remarked that he cared nothing" for his wife and son, George, aged 4, Scates testified, and said that "some time he was going to get some and kill her."

Mrs. Root, 30, and attractive, concluded her own testimony under the grueling cross-examination of W. T. McLean, district attorney-general, at noon, reiterating her previous testimony that her husband "reached for his gun" before she ended his life at his country home.

Trembling at times, and her dark eyes flashing, Mrs. Root denied that she "slipped up on her husband" and shot him without warning November 3, a few hours after the cabaret celebration.

She said she went to Root's home after the party—despite the fact that he had cursed her and said he was "tired" of her—to get him to deny the "cigarette girl's" statement that Root had called on her before the party, "after he had promised me he wouldn't see her any more."

Twice Slapped Him. She said she twice slapped Root for calling Miss Underwood "sweet names."

McLean attacked her previous testimony that Root once beat her so badly as to cause a miscarriage, charging that she told Root's mother, Mrs. Benjamin Franklin Root, wife of the Chicago clergyman, that she took turpentine and that "caused the miscarriage."

She said she didn't want his mother to know the real cause and "I took things on myself many times to keep Brenton from being blamed—I loved him."

EDWARD R. HAYS SR. DIES AT RESIDENCE

Former City Building Inspector, Pioneer Contractor, Passes.

Edward R. Hays Sr., former building inspector of the city of Atlanta and a pioneer Atlanta contractor, died yesterday morning at his home, 859 Edgewood avenue. He was 68.

He had served the city as building inspector from 1906 until 1916 when he resigned his position to re-enter a private business he had given up at the time to his appointment as a city official.

A resident of Atlanta all his life, he was a son of the late A. C. and Susan Hays, pioneer Georgians. Active in church affairs, he was a long-time member of the Inman Park Methodist church. He was widely known in contracting circles throughout the state.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. D. A. Tucker and Mrs. Edward H. Mau, of Atlanta; three sons, Forest, George and Edward Hays Jr.; a sister, Mrs. Flora Parks, and three grandchildren, Martha and George B. Hays Jr., and Edward Mau.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son with the Rev. R. A. Edmondson officiating. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

YEAR'S SALES HIGH

Adair Realty & Loan Company Total $900,000.

Forty-eight parcels of commercial and investment property were sold for a total of $900,000 by the Adair Realty & Loan Company during 1935, officials announced yesterday. Of all sales, 85 per cent were for cash.

"I think the year's record shows that people are again seeking real estate as an investment paying 6 or 7 per cent net instead of placing their money in bonds which return only about 2 per cent," Perry Adair, vice president, said. "It proves that real estate is a good investment."

Agents who handled the deals, which ranged from small property in negro sections, to downtown office structures, were J. J. Chambers, vice president; Mercer Poole, S. A. Redwine and Frank Martin. Five realty sales in the downtown section were recorded.

The Olympia Investment Company bought the old Gould and Silvey buildings between Edgewood avenue and Decatur streets, near Five Points. John M. Ogden purchased two Peachtree street sites, a one-story building at 107 Peachtree and the triangle corner at the intersection of Peachtree and Forsyth streets. Both structures are being razed for the erection of modern two-story buildings.

The fifth large sale was that of the property at 34-36 Peachtree street to the estate of Spurgeon King. This property, too, is to be remodelled for a tenant, it was said.

JACKSONVILLE GROCER IS LOST FROM LINER

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 22.—(AP)—A. Warlick Harman, 51, Jacksonville grocery broker, fell or leaped to his death from the hurricane deck of the Merchants & Miners liner Fairfax last night at sea between Savannah, Ga., and this port.

The coast guard received a radio message from the Fairfax early today saying a passenger was missing but it was not until the ship docked here today that the identity of the passenger was learned.

HUDGENS IS NAMED REGIONAL RRA HEAD

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(UP)—Robert W. Hudgens today was named regional director for the Resettlement Administration with a territory covering Alabama, Georgia, Florida and South Carolina.

His headquarters will be at Montgomery, Ala.

The appointment is effective February 1. Hudgens formerly was Louisiana director.

friendly beer

The thing about beer is its friendliness. Beer has a way of getting along pleasantly with people in all their various moods and occasions. Beer tonics the tired body, and eases the high strung mind. It is a good companion of foods, yet a nourishment in itself. It is conducive to quiet enjoyment, to human kindness, to good fellowship and understanding. • The thing about beer is its friendliness.

"KEGLINED", the convenient new-day container, was developed to safeguard the fine, rich, brewery flavor of beer.

Since last winter, production of cans trade-marked "KEGLINED" has jumped from a few thousand to tens of millions a month. This story of success, of amazingly rapid public acceptance, is a tribute to the foresight and cooperation of two great industries. The constant help and encouragement we have received from the makers of beer has played a large part in the development of this welcome new container.

Look for the word "Keglined" on the side of every can of beer you buy.

POLICEMEN TESTIFY ON RETURN OF AUTOS

It is obtaining witness lists and the line of questioning necessary to develop other complaints in addition to the return of Owens' cars.

The committee voted to meet again at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night at the city hall and to continue its probe. The line of investigation to be undertaken at that time will be to ascertain whether any men were shifted by Sturdivant's order because they prosecuted bootleggers, whether Sturdivant has shifted men for grand jury testimony, whether any have been shifted or threatened because of testimony before the police committee and a general probe of hangers-on at the police station.

When the committee convened, Councilman J. Allen Couch, committee member, proposed passage of a resolution offering immunity to all departmental members for any testimony they should give before the committee. It was passed unanimously, and every police officer was informed of the ruling before he was asked any questions.

Couch lost a move to order the reassignment of any police officer shifted since November 1, for testimony given before a grand jury before a police committee. He did not insist on a vote when opposition developed.

In addition to the liquor car returns, the committee heard Lieutenant R. P. Burnett recount that a crap game, in which Owens was a participant, was in progress at the city jail on the night of November 20, and that a poker game appeared to be going on. Burnett related that Captain Neal Ellis, Lieutenants O. E. Jones, E. W. Ginn, Reggie McLean and Patrolman J. L. Ellis were sitting around a dining room table with cards in their hands and money on the table.

Assistant Chief of Police A. J. Holcomb told of ordering Captain George T. Butler and Burnett to keep order and not allow "anything to be done which might cause criticism."

Owens had $1 bills in his left hand when he was shot, Burnett testified. He, however, failed to place any local officers in the crap game.

Owens Ejected.

Burnett said he ejected Owens from the station on orders of Chief Holcomb.

When Burnett testified about the poker game, Councilman G. Dan Bridges, chairman of the police committee, asked why he failed to do so at the last meeting of the committee.

Burnett insisted that he was asked only about the crap game and that he did not volunteer it. He insisted he was telling the truth about the poker game.

Holcomb, Burnett and Butler cross-examined their stories regarding the returns they gave and received. There were marked discrepancies in the stories recounted by Burnett and Holcomb.

Burnett said he was told by Holcomb to go up stairs and eject Owens, while Holcomb said he knew nothing about Owens being in the building before he was informed by Burnett.

Burnett said he would have arrested any group of private citizens he caught under the same circumstances as he found when he invaded the poker game to which he testified, and on examination by Couch and Bridges said he would have arrested Owens if he had been caught in a crap game outside the police station.

Lieutenant Jones denied having been in any game or in that wing of the station on the night in question. Ginn said he sat at the table, but did not play any cards. He added that no poker was played.

"There were two or three set back games and possibly some rummy, running, but they were not playing for money," he added.

He denied that Earl Harbin or George Barrett were participants in answer to questions by Couch.

Lieutenant J. B. Petty denied that he was on the floor on which the games are alleged to have been staged. Others named by Burnett were not called last night.

Sam Hewlett, prominent attorney, appeared for Sturdivant and demanded that the chief be allowed to remain in the committee meeting. This followed a ruling by the committee that the chief be segregated with other witnesses. The committee held that the chief was not on trial and should be barred from the hearing.

Hewlett then demanded the right to cross-examine witnesses.

Allows Records Changed.

"We propose to show that the records were changed, that insertions were made and that cars were marked hold for liquor after they were released," Hewlett told the committee.

Committee members held that the chief is not under charges and that such a procedure would cause unnecessary delays in its probe of police matters at this time.

Lieutenant M. A. Hornsby testified Sturdivant told Whitley (Virgil Whitley, assistant station lieutenant), "I don't give a damn if it is, release it," when Whitley called the chief's attention to the fact that one of the automobiles under discussion was impounded and charged with transporting liquor.

Whitley repeated those exact words when called to the stand with the exception Sturdivant said "Let him have it."

Among other witnesses, who appeared during the hearing last night were: The mayor, who asserted he could stop the numbers game in Atlanta with two or three men "if I didn't

Witnesses Tell Investigating Board of Police Affairs

Star witnesses in the committee investigation of affairs in the police department are shown here. From left to right are Senator G. Everett Millican, of the 35th (Fulton county) senatorial district, who reiterated his statement that police who attempted last week to trap a higher-up "bug" operator were either smart or dumb—dumb if they expected to catch him; Lieutenant M. A. Hornsby, who made additional statements to the committee which tended to prove that Police Chief T. O. Sturdivant had authorized return of three impounded automobiles to Ralph Owens, alleged bootlegger, and Councilman J. Allen Couch, who secured passage of the immunity guarantee for police officers and private citizens who testified at the quiz. Staff photos.

Safety Council of Constitution Carries Traffic War Over State

The war against careless driving, like all modern warfare, has become motorized.

The Constitution Safety Council, directing the safety war in this state, is not using an armored tank or an army lorry.

The Ford Motor Company of Atlanta is supplying the motor unit of the campaign with its new and efficient safety motor freight carrier. The new truck is built for maximum safety and can be maneuvered easily with a 10,000-pound load. The vehicle is now on tour of a number of cities in Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee.

At every town the truck visits, under the direction of J. E. Brown, of the Ford Motor Company, it is demonstrated to dealers and salesmen for its efficiency in handling freight and its safe driving features. Chiefs of police and heads of traffic departments of various cities also examine the vehicle for safety construction and handling.

Talk To Salesmen.

At an indoor meeting of dealers and salesmen, the necessity of safe driving, as set forth by The Constitution Safety Council, is brought before the men, along with sales and service talks. Mr. Brown reports the safety campaign meets with earnest enthusiasm wherever he goes, and backs up his statement with handful of signed safety pledges every time he returns to the home office.

The Constitution Safety Council recently received from Mr. Brown the signed safety pledges from salesmen, dealers and citizens of Albany, Leesburg, Americus and Macon in Georgia, and Andalusia and Greenville, Ala.

A. M. Murphy, chief of police of Greenville, is reported as highly commending The Constitution's safe driving campaign and immediately became a safe driving pledge signer. His pledge was turned in to the Safety Council by Mr. Brown along with scores of others obtained on the trip.

Mayor Key, Irked, Probes Press On Report of 'Secret' Bug Trap

Mayor Key's effort to find out why newspapers print the news ended in something closely akin to a stalemate last night as he urged the police committee of city council to ask Herman Hancock, Constitution reporter, "how is it that the newspapers can publish the fact that the police are looking for a man before that man is arrested?"

A councilman read extracts of The Constitution's story to the committee but none of the members seemed particularly disturbed. Only Mayor Key, who asserted boldly that he could, if he had not so many other things to do, wipe out the "bug" racket in a short time with "two or three good arresting officers," seemed in the slightest upset at the startling situation whereby a news reporter is able to print what is going to be done before it is done.

As witnesses in his one-man probe to determine the amount of freedom which is allowed the press under the constitution of the United States, Mayor Key had Hancock and State Senator G. Everett Millican subpoenaed.

Mayor Is Aroused.
The mayor's ire seemed to have been aroused when Hancock last week wrote a story about Key's attempt to stop the "bug" racket here with the arrest of one minor "pick-up" man named to him by a writer arrested in the city hall while ostensibly plying his trade among city employees. The "pick-up" man, W. S. (Yank) Venable, eluded traps set for him on a street corner by the mayor's policeman-chauffeur, Herbert Jenkins.

Venable, whose eyesight apparently is all right, was able to see approximately one dozen big, round policemen stationed higher and yon about the trap in police cars. Anyway, it was later learned he rode right through the cordon of officers—not once but twice.

Key belligerently demanded to know

The Best GRAY HAIR REMEDY IS MADE AT HOME

YOU can now make at home a better gray hair remedy than you can buy, by following this simple recipe: To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small tin of Beechwood Creamoline and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any drugstore can put this up for you or you can mix it yourself at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained.

Barbo imparts color to streaked, faded or gray hair, makes it soft and glossy and takes years off your looks. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off. Do not be handicapped by gray hair now when it is so economical and easy to get rid of in its own home.

A Three Days' Cough Is Your Danger Signal

A cough, chest cold or bronchial irritation today may lead to serious trouble tomorrow. You can relieve them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified Croscote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery that aids nature to soothe and heal the infected membranes and to relieve the irritation and inflammation as the germ-laden phlegm is loosened and expelled. Medical authorities have for many years recognized the wonderful effects of Beechwood Croscote for treating coughs, chest colds and bronchial irritations. A chemist worked out a special process of blending Croscote with other ingredients so that now in Creomulsion you get a real dose of Beechwood Croscote which is palatable and can even be taken frequently and continuously by adults and children. Thousands of doctors now use Creomulsion in their own families and practice, and druggists rank Creomulsion top because in this genuine, original product you can get a real dose of Croscote so emulsified that it goes to the very seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ-laden phlegm. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles, especially those that start with a common cold and hang on and on. Get a bottle of Creomulsion right now from your druggist, use it all up as directed and if you fail to get satisfactory relief, he is authorized to refund every cent of your money. Get Creomulsion right now. (Adv.)

PARK PURCHASE PROBE BY GRAND JURY ASKED

ed to all councilmen, J. H. Merritt, president of the organization said. Key reviewed the John A. White park purchase for the police committee last night, asserting "the whole thing was rotten and as a matter of civic consciousness it should be investigated thoroughly."

"Dr. Collum paid $15,000 for the land several years ago, according to a report of the city tax assessor," Key said. "He already has received more than $30,000 in cash from the city for it. He has been exempted from all taxation on the properties or on the proceeds from the tract during that time."

"The city paid $6,800 in cash when it attempted to buy the tract," Dr. Collum told me in his office that he never got a penny of that money. He did say that an alderman borrowed $2,500 of it and repaid only about $200 or $400 of the amount he borrowed."

"I won't stand for the city to be held up and shaken down in any such way. The municipality probably has been held up before, and it probably will be again, but it won't be while I am here. If the council votes to pay $60,000 for that tract, I'll veto it. If the council overrides my veto, I'll not sign any check to pay it unless mandamus to do so by the courts. I have had to resort to that before, and effectively, and I'll do it again."

"Just because the city made a mistake and put an improvement on this land is no reason why the city should have to buy the improvement back. This whole thing is rotten."

Original agreement made with Dr. Collum before Key came into office was to purchase Collum's 86 acres for $68,000 and the city paid $6,800 down. Then the courts enjoined the purchase because one council is not allowed to bind succeeding councils on business deals of this kind. So the city lost the down payment, which Key said Collum asserted he did not receive anyway.

This happened in 1929, if same year that the city leased the land from Collum for five years at an annual rental of approximately $3,200. The lease expired December 31, 1935, and the land and all the improvements the city had made to it reverted to Dr. Collum.

The improvements included five holes of the golf course, a $14,000 clubhouse, tennis courts, baseball diamonds and other recreational developments which cost Atlanta something like $125,000 and Fulton county about $20,000.

Jury Probe Asked.
Mayor Key intimated that he would ask the grand jury to probe the whole affair, especially Collum's allusions to the "politicians" who he said got the down payment of $6,800.

Alderman Aldridge and Councilman Marler at this point again stressed the fact they were not in council at the time this allegedly took place.

They called on the mayor representing the West End section, whose residents they said are particularly anxious that the city buy the remainder of the park, as little successful golf can be played on four holes.

The West End Businessmen's Association is to hold a meeting this week to determine what can be done about the purchase. The Fulton grand jury last week recommended that the city buy the land.

As he has said before, Key again declared that $25,000 could be paid by the city if Dr. Collum would accept the price.

"I think $25,000 is too much but if it could be bought for that amount, which represents about $300 an acre, I would help find the money to pay for it," he asserted.

"But I'll never allow its purchase

ICC Member Urges New Freight Legislation

Legislation which would sharply affect agencies of transportation was recommended at the 24th annual dinner meeting of the Atlanta Freight Bureau, held last night at the Athletic Club. Pictured here are Marion M. Caskie, left, of Washington, D. C., member of the Interstate Commerce Commission and principal speaker, and George Winship, right, chairman of the freight bureau, who presided. Staff photo by Turner Hiers.

Freight Terminals Co-ordination Urged as Transportation Need

Co-ordination of the freight terminal facilities of the railroads throughout the country was urged last night by Marion M. Caskie, of Washington, D. C., member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, in an address before 200 transportation and businessmen at the 24th annual dinner-meeting of the Atlanta Freight Bureau.

"Because of the surplus transportation facilities there is very little, if any, profit to those engaged in the transportation business," Caskie said. "Twenty-five per cent of our railroad mileage is either in the hands of receivers or trustees."

Also speaking were Harrison Jones, vice president of the Coca-Cola Company, several city and county officials. Officers reported, and members of the board of directors, were announced. George Winship, chairman of the freight bureau, presided. The meeting was held at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

Urges New Laws.
Mr. Caskie recommended legislation sharply affecting agencies of transportation, which, he said, also had been recommended by Joseph B. Eastman, federal co-ordinator of transportation, who pointed out that some members of the I. C. C. do not commend such legislation as he recommends.

Mr. Caskie said he was convinced "reorganization along such lines is necessary in the public interest."

Jones Reviews Fight.
Mr. Jones, in his speech, reviewed fights of the freight bureau to bring about fair freight rates for this section.

"When it comes to contributions to Atlanta, there's no other organization comparable to the freight bureau," he said. "There's none which can be of more value in preserving the city's economic health. Some organizations must work continually to see that rates are adjusted so that industry will locate here."

E. L. Hart, secretary of the bureau, said, in giving his annual report, that "conditions are even more unsettled than in years before." He pointed out the necessity for drastic revision of railroad rates to meet changing conditions.

VARIOUS ISSUES FACE SOUTHERN LAWMAKERS

Pension, Road Fund and Security Legislation Is Holding Spotlight.

By the Associated Press.
Measures fraught with serious election year consequences, an old-age pension plan, highway appropriation figures and a proposed tax on newspapers commanded the attention of four southern legislatures yesterday.

Lawmakers were in session at Richmond, Va., Frankfort, Ky., Columbia, S. C., and Jackson, Miss.

The South Carolina assembly enters its third week in session today with political storm clouds clustering over the capitol.

Action on measures to reorganize the highway commission, reduce South Carolina auto tag fees, and modify the new liquor law appeared fraught with the most serious election year consequences.

The social security committee planned to seek a vote on its joint resolution for a constitutional amendment that would enable the enactment of legislation for old-age pensions and allied purposes for 1937.

At Richmond, the legislators were informed of a bill in preparation that would levy a tax of one-fourth of a cent on each copy of a daily or weekly newspaper printed in Virginia, the proceeds to go into an old-age pension fund. It was estimated the tax would return $700,000 annually.

The Kentucky legislature received from Governor A. B. Chandler in person his old-age pension bill calling for maximum monthly payments of $15 to qualified persons over 65 years of age, starting next July 1.

The Mississippi senate began work on the house-approved $40,000,000 highway legislation with indications pointing to enactment by the end of the week.

SEC. PERKINS DENIES SECURITY BILL COSTLY
ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 27.—(AP)—Miss Frances Perkins, United States secretary of labor, denied here today that the federal social security program is costly, and parried questions regarding Alfred E. Smith's radio attack on the New Deal.

"It is an error," she told the city club, "to think of federal and state expenditures (for social security) as a new and additional cost. All state and local governments are spending money now for all or most of the purposes."

DISTRESSED STEAMER REPAIRED WITHOUT AID
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 27.—(AP)—The Greek steamer Antonis G. Lemos tonight told ships racing to her aid that no more assistance was required.

The following message was intercepted by the coast guard here: "Chains have been repaired. No more assistance required. Waiting weather improvement before calling at Bermuda for repairs. Many thanks." It was signed by the master.

MEXICAN KIDNAPERS RELEASE U. S. CITIZEN
GUANAJUATO, Mexico, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Max L. Quinn, U. S. States citizen who was kidnaped by bandits Friday, was freed today after promising to pay 1,000 pesos (about $280) to his captors.

Quinn was unharmed and reached here after a long trip afoot and on horseback. The former Spokane, Wash., resident said a band of 25 men seized him near the El Cubo mine Friday but, surprised by federal troops, split into two groups.

NO CHANGES FORECAST IN U. S. CONSTITUTION

New Deal Purposes Expected To Follow Court's Rulings.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(AP)—A close advisor of the President said today the administration will avoid proposals for amending the constitution during the coming campaign.

The administration, he added, will seek to accomplish New Deal purposes "within the language of the majority opinions" of the supreme court.

Proposals to limit the court's power over constitutional questions, to change the court itself, or to broaden the stated power of congress by constitutional amendment, he said, have been definitely shelved.

"We are not trying, as some of our opponents judge, to avoid the constitution," said the high official, who declined to be quoted by name, "but rather to meet the requirements of the majority of the court as they interpret the constitution. We do not believe that all efforts in that direction have been exhausted."

This statement followed a speech Saturday by Solicitor General Stanley Reed, the New Deal's chief pleader before the high court, in which he said he had found "very real cause for hope in the future in the language of Justice Roberts (in the AAA decision) upon the welfare clause."

23 Killed in Crash.

TOKYO, Jan. 28.—(Tuesday)—(AP)—Twenty-three persons were killed and 63 injured today when a snowslide derailed a train east of Yamagata in northern Japan. Three coaches, in which engineers and railway workers were riding, were thrown over a cliff.

EX-DANCER ACQUITTED IN HUSBAND SLAYING

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 27.—(AP)—Lucille Lavelle Moran, former New York dancer and model who shot and killed her saloon-keeper husband, Frank, was acquitted of second degree murder by a Supreme Court jury to-night.

could just as easily prepare an accusation in criminal court and thus save the county much money.

"This is a misdemeanor indictment here although the superior court judges have ordered that all such be presented in criminal court," said the judge.

"The grand jury seems to pay no attention to what the judges have said and continues to handle these matters."

"Such cases merely clog the superior court and the office of the clerk and cause an additional, needless expense to the county. They could be disposed of merely by drawing accusations at far less cost. This court has enough to do handling felony," he declared.

Since Boykin has been attempting to stave out the lottery racket, the grand jury on the average of about a dozen a week, sometimes more.

Indictments for violation of the prohibition law were started during the term of the November-December grand jury. Most of these cases are made by county police raiding squad headed by Lieutenant W. A. Wells.

Bentley, Owens' lawyer, said the accused man will be in bed for three weeks and then will undergo a tonsilectomy. In criminal court, his case will not come up before the March term.

For Every Member of THE FAMILY!

(A True Story)

I saw an interesting sight in the bank the other day. A typical American family—father, mother, son, and daughter came into the lobby—then separated. Father went to the Commercial window, mother to the Women's Department, and the boy and girl to the Savings Department.

When they had reassembled, I could not resist the desire to speak to them and to thank them for such unanimous patronage. The father, obviously pleased, spoke up:

"Yes, we are proud to call ourselves a Citizens & Southern family, with an account for every member. In addition, Mother and I have a Safe Deposit Box, and in the Trust Department I have deposited my will, designating the bank as executor and trustee of our estate. I can go one step further. What we are doing is what my father and mother did before me. We believe in the Citizens & Southern."

Yes, there is a place in our bank for every member of the family. And hundreds of families are using those places, happy in the service they are receiving and confident that their trust will never be betrayed. Such faith is at once the joy and inspiration of a good bank.

American Forestry Leaders Are Here for Convention

Leading figures in American forestry are shown above as more than 400 foresters and service men gathered here yesterday for a three-day meeting of the Society of American Foresters. They are, left to right, H. H. Chapman, president of the society and professor of forestry at Yale University; S. T. three from Connally, democrat, Texas, and Fletcher, democrat, Florida, paired against previously, and Tydings, democrat, Maryland, the only member not voting or paired on the first vote.

It was the first time this session that the entire senate was recorded on a roll call. Vice President Garner noted it and before announcing the result congratulated the senate "on its good health."

One hour after the vote, Edwin W. Halsey, senate secretary, had signed the bill making it law. Garrett Whitehead, secretary to Senator Hattie W. Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, and clerk of the enrolled bills, row on them—would hold their bonds for a "nest egg."

Of the $2,491,000,000 ultimate cost, only $1,924,000,000 is estimated to be paid in cash. The balance of $567,000,000 in bonds and $57,786,050 in cash to take care of odd amounts over $50 multiple.

Hastings, King Lead "Noes." Hardly a word was deemed necessary in defense of the bill in the senate today, leaving the debate to the opposition led by Senators Hastings, republican, Delaware, and King, democrat, Utah.

In ultra-sarcastic form, Hastings turned on the democratic vote to urge that they "give the President your support."

You have voted for things you didn't want," he said "now vote for something you know is right."

He described the President's brief, hand-penned veto message as of the "milk toast variety" and said it "did not have the kind of vigor I had hoped."

He cited Secretary Morgenthau's testimony that the bill would raise the treasury financing for the next 17 months.

BONUS VETS ARE TOLD EXCHANGE PROCEDURE WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Here are the steps necessary for a World War veteran to exchange his bonus certificate for cashable bonds.

Blankets to be used in applying for bonds will be mailed by the veterans' organization to its field offices and local offices of the veterans' organizations, probably tomorrow.

If a veteran has not borrowed on his certificate and has it in his possession, he should send it with his application to the nearest regional office of the veterans' administration or to the central office in Washington.

If a veteran is outstanding against the certificate, the application should be sent to the veterans' administration office where the loan was obtained.

If the veteran has made a certificate loan at a bank, he should send his application direct to the veterans' administration in Washington.

After filing his application, the veteran need take no further action as his account will be checked by the veterans' administration, forwarded to the treasury, and the amount due him will be sent him in bonds dated June 30, 1938, of $50 each, with any odd amounts covered by a government check.

A little advice from President Roosevelt and the veterans' organization, officially announced today: "Immediate and urgent need for funds offers, of course, a valid reason for cashing the bonds. . . . Permanent advantage as to opportunity for temporary pleasure should be the criterion."

D. A. V. TO DISTRIBUTE APPLICATION BLANKS Bonus application blanks will be placed in every state office of the Disabled American Veterans, it was announced last night by Cecil Hall, state commander of the D. A. V.

The blanks will be available today at the local chapter office in the Chamber of Commerce building in the state commander's office in the same building, Hall announced.

NEW SNAG IS HIT BY BONUS MEASURE WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(AP)—The bonus question probably hasn't been solved for good after all.

Shortly after the senate enacted the bond payment bill today, voters raised the President's veto, Senator Gore, democrat, Oklahoma, introduced a bill to permit veterans to use either their present certificates or the bonds they receive for them in paying any debts to government agencies including the Farm Credit Administration.

COUNTY FUND OUTLOOK BRIGHT, AUDITORS SAY

Receipts To Top Expenditures by $33,009, Fulton Commission Told.

A prosperity note was struck by Fulton county auditors yesterday. They estimated that the county this year will receive in cash $33,009 more than it spends.

In the 1935 audit and the estimate for 1936, it was forecast that the county will take in $4,039,406 and will disburse $3,997,397 to operate the county government.

During 1935 the financial condition of the county was imperfectly met, $95,004.63, which went to reduce the deficit which has hung over the county's head like a dark cloud since before the depression. The deficit now amounts to $229,485.

The financial statement was released yesterday by James L. Respass, of the auditing firm of Respass and Respass. It was turned over to the county commissioners for consideration.

The general condition of the county was declared good by the auditors. All accounts of county officers handling money were said to have been in good shape.

We believe estimated receipts will be realized this year and that the necessary and normal operation of the county can be carried on within the estimates of disbursements," the report stated.

Salaries, amounting to $1,820,360, will eat the largest hole in the cash receipts of the county during the year resulting from a single allocation. Next come money for the ordinary expenses of operating the county, which amounts to $1,542,065, based on previous years. Then there are disbursements based on official acts of the board of county commissioners and prior contracts, including actual authorizations for all departments. This sum amounts to $549,172. It includes the cost of the new juvenile detention home, interest on bonds, money for the education system and other authorized expenses.

Since the state legislature passed an act limiting the levy allowed for salaries and charities, the county this year can raise only one-fourth as much money for the support of salaries. Formerly four mills could be levied but this year only one mill will go for this purpose. Thus, only $281,600 on the estimated 1938 tax digest will be realized and the amount necessary to support the various institutions will be $554,875. The auditors point out it will be legal for the county to pay the difference of $273,875 from other sources and they declared the county will have sufficient cash on hand to meet this cost.

In our opinion, this cost can legally be paid from receipts other than taxes, provided there are other funds available," commented Respass. "Other funds in our estimates amount to $617,880, out of which $240,000 is by law payable to the Fulton county board of education and $27,000 from state gasoline tax is for public roads. The balance of $350,880 is for other purposes. You will have sufficient funds to cover the estimates shown."

Net property values on which collections will be made in 1936 will total $288,815,182, according to the estimate in 1935 the amount was $286,628,488, which represented an increase from $281,672,672 during the year previous. However, in 1930, the net values were $328,070,065.

The total tax expected to be collected this year will approximate $3,297,000 while the amount actually collected during 1935 was $3,272,013. In 1936 the sum collected was $3,218,407. For comparison, the total received in 1930 was $3,733,501. All the taxes for the years given are based on a $1.10 levy, which is the current rate.

drastic reduction of the aggregate indebtedness of the south.

"Southern pine timber is admirably suited for sulphate pulp production and sulphate pulp is not only being consumed in increasing quantities for kraft paper, boards and other well established uses, but is entering many fields formerly supplied only by sulphite pulp."

Expansion Problem. "From an economic standpoint the prospect for further expansion of sulphate pulp in the south is perhaps brighter than for newsprint manufacture."

"There is no basis for doubting that the amount of timber used for lumber will continue to be far larger than the amount required for any other form of utilization."

"The south must not lose sight of the opportunity it has to maintain a dominant position in lumber production."

Behre added, however, "the south holds possibilities for an expansion of the domestic newsprint industry several times more than sufficient to Controls Credit Expansion. One of its most potent implements is authority to increase the reserve requirements of member banks, as a means of controlling credit expansion.

With the banks holding billions of dollars in excess reserves, this method of Federal Reserve control would be built largely around the land grant colleges and state experiment stations.

Davis said conditional grants have been made to states for many years, for vocational agricultural training, for extension services and for roads.

The first step under a permanent program, it was said, would be to determine the conditions on which grants would be made. Then each state would be expected to authorize some agency to enter into a co-operative agreement with the government. This agency, it was indicated, might be built from the land grant colleges and producer associations. Funds from the government would then be obtained by the agency which would conduct individual relations with producers.

Enactment of laws would be necessary in many states, it was indicated, but officials insisted there would not be any of the "general welfare" clause of the constitution.

He said there had been discussion whether under the AAA decision an act of the federal government could be regarded by the court as an effort to conserve the soil or to regulate agricultural production.

The court has ruled the latter is not a function of the federal government. The bill gives the secretary broad powers to give grants to farmers for reducing production acreage. It provides that after January 1, 1939, grants may be made to the states for the effectuation of control programs.

Agriculture department experts said the proposed program would be built largely around the land grant colleges and state experiment stations.

"Up to the present no newsprint mills have been established in the south, but the technique of conversion has been carried far enough to indicate the possibility of eventual, if not early, development."

Dr. Herty predicted the "determining factor" in southern newsprint manufacture development should be the cost of manufacture and proximity to markets.

Comparative Prices. He said northern newsprint now costs $47.23 a ton to make and deliver in New York, while southern newsprint could be made and delivered for $27.54.

Eldridge discussed the predicted conflict between the newsprint and sawmill interests.

"Regardless of the duty to maintain the sawmill industry, the economic situation demands other uses," he said.

He added that approximately 95 per cent of the second-growth timber in a section of the deep south in which a recent study had been made is in the hands of private individuals.

"It is hard to picture private ownership holding on to this long enough to sell it for sawmill timber," he said, adding that in some instances this would take from 20 to 30 years.

"If there is a demand for pulp wood, there is every indication it will be available."

After discussing briefly the newsprint industry, Dr. Herty exhibited what he said were the first samples of paper made from longleaf southern pine.

"This type of pine has given us the greatest trouble," he said, but added the difficulties are now solved.

He also exhibited rayon made from southern pine and another specimen of rayon made from "bleached kraft."

He said that while his laboratory did not have equipment for making cellophane, the only difference between that product and rayon was in "equipping the material through small nozzles or through a slit."

Varied Reactions to Al Smith Reflected in Editorial Views

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK TIMES (Independent Democratic): Others have pointed out the contrast between the solemn promises of 1932 and the performance that followed. But no one had played upon the theme as did Mr. Smith. He made the familiar stuff glow with new color. Taking no pledge to the people after another, slinging out the telltale contradictions even in language, he made the whole thing seem uncommonly ludicrous.

NEW YORK HERALD-TRIBUNE (Republican): To this huge assemblage of self-respecting, uncomplaining, ambitious men and women, Mr. Smith made his plea and he made it with a simplicity and clarity that no one else can equal. He made it in his straight American talk, his shrewd phrases, his good-natured but biting thrusts. Because of what he had been and had accomplished, he could speak as he did.

NEW YORK WORLD-TELEGRAM (Scripps-Howard Independent): What he expressed will tend to strengthen those who are prone to believe that the "plain people" of the United States are not so much in lack of a large quantity of shock because he gave the pedometer a considerable workout in 1932. . . . Some unquestionably will join him in the stroll if he decides to take it. How many no one can say.

NEW YORK POST (Independent Liberal): Al Smith's speech to the Liberty League revealed more about Al Smith than it did about anybody else. In October, 1932, Al was denounced by William Allen White as a "menace to American institutions" because Al demanded fair play for what Al called the "plain people of the United States." The "plain people" were cheering for Al then. But who cheered him at the Liberty League dinner? The plain people? Not this time.

LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL (Independent): The chief interest in Al Smith's Liberty League dinner speech was not so much in the assault he was expected to make on the Roosevelt administration as in the disclosure he might make regarding the party he would play in the approaching presidential campaign. He was disappointing when he touched upon the course he will follow.

PHILADELPHIA RECORD (Independent Liberal): We fought for Al once—when Al was fighting for the "plain people" but Saturday night he had few words for the plain people. "I was led to believe that it (democratic party) belonged to all the plain people," Al was right. It does belong to them—now.

PHILADELPHIA INQUIRER (Republican): Smith's reverberating denunciation of the betrayal of the New Deal passed far beyond the confines of partisanship. A challenge to his party, it was also a ringing demand upon all the people of the United States to vote conscientious government out of existence.

PHILADELPHIA BULLETIN (Independent): The "Happy Warrior" has come to the parting of the ways. He will not follow the Roosevelt line of march, and as he leads there is no doubt that many will follow. His further action is not indicated. But his trumpet never yet sounded retreat.

PHILADELPHIA EVENING LEDGER (Republican): This is a fight within the democratic party. . . . The millions of democrats who feel and think as Mr. Smith does serve to emphasize the growth and the intensity of the opposition to the Roosevelt administration that has developed since March, 1933, and especially during the last six or eight months.

RICHMOND NEWS-LEADER (Independent Democratic): Democrats must be exceedingly careful that dissatisfaction with some phases of the New Deal does not lead them to defend the old deal. That we fear, is what Mr. Smith has done. He has kept so long the company of conservatives that he has lost his liberalism.

RICHMOND TIMES-DISPATCH (Independent Democratic): The spectacle of Al Smith, the Al who, as governor, was recognized as the spokesman of the liberal forces of the New York now transposed into the head and front of the country's reactionary interests, is a depressing one. . . . Portions of his address were so ridiculous as to be unworthy of consideration from any intelligent person.

NORFOLK LEDGER-DISPATCH (Independent): Because of his mentality and experience, Mr. Smith had an opportunity on Saturday night to perform a notable service by studying, dissecting and evaluating what ever there has been of good or bad in the democratic administration. Because of his position heretofore in the party . . . we profoundly regret that he did not take full advantage of that opportunity.

CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER (Independent Democratic): It is in his emotional peroration, in which he accuses the New Deal of "socialism," that Governor Smith displays the amazing, and to many, the tragic change from the forward-looking executive of other years to the frustrated man who apparently cannot live down his disappointment at not being President.

CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR (Republican): A historic protest has been formulated by a voice that will carry far.

NEW YORK SUN (Independent Republican): He told the truth and the truth was painful to the satellites of President Roosevelt. . . . But what hurt the New Dealers most was the fact that the most convincing political orator in America was broadcasting millions of eager ears the story of his party's shame. Right at the door of Franklin Roosevelt he placed the guilt of the great betrayal.

BALTIMORE SUN (Independent Democratic): It is disappointing that Al Smith should make a good speech with a Fourth of July closing. . . . It is a pity that a man of Al Smith's gifts and prestige should intrude a hobnob with realism and discrimination and a comprehensive issue are urgently required.

RALEIGH NEWS AND OBSERVER (Democratic): The Liberty League still have applause for Smith. But there are millions of Americans who once supported him who are less angered than saddened by the comment already put forward by the Roosevelt administration. . . . Their memory makes an American tragedy for he who was once the Happy Warrior of the people is now no more than a sullen armor in the great banquet hall of the lords.

COLUMBIA (S. C.) THE STATE (Democratic): However varied and conflicting may be the opinions regarding the subject matter of former Governor Smith's speech . . . every one with a fairly open mind should welcome as a victory some discussion of governmental affairs.

MIAMI LITTELL NEWS (Independent): He (Smith) admits that not so long ago he himself was among the foremost advocates of a constitutional change to repeal prohibition. . . . If this were the land of the soviet, would any man dare to speak as Mr. Smith spoke? . . . But freedom he enjoys in such an attack is the best proof that the Liberty League is not, as they still live in a democracy striving to meet needs of new times in a democratic way.

LITTLE ROCK, ARKANSAS DEMOCRAT (Democratic): Alfred E. Smith . . . made no new friends for himself and his enemies for the Roosevelt administration. The party leaders will gain nothing by replying, for they lost nothing as a result of his speech.

KANSAS CITY STAR (Independent): Certainly millions of democrats will share the serious and multiplied misgivings of their chosen leader of eight years ago. What is more, Mr. Smith not only has spoken for them but for millions of other American people who have become vastly and increasingly concerned over the dangerous tendencies of the regime at Washington. . . .

HOUSTON (TEXAS) CHRONICLE (Democratic): The issue now should be one of results. . . . Governor Smith met this simple issue only to assert "at the end of three years we are just where we started." The people of America know we are not "just where we started." They know we have come a long way.

BUFFALO EVENING NEWS (Republican): Bold and blunt was Mr. Smith's castigation of the record compiled since March, 1933, a record so strangely at variance with the platform promises made at the national convention of 1932. . . . The record shows that his arrows reached the mark. . . .

BUFFALO TIMES (Democratic): Al has moved uptown. . . . Karl Marx in the Union League Club would seem no more fantastic, as we look into our memory of the Smith that was; the Smith who portrayed the New Deal as socialistic. . . . Will tend to strengthen those who are prone to bolt.

THE DETROIT FREE PRESS (Independent): With clean hands he could hold up to the judgment of the nation the record of an administration which has broken faith with the people. . . . and of a chief magistrate who has broken faith with God by stabbing in the back the constitution he swore to uphold and protect.

THE DETROIT NEWS (Independent): Voters by the million will be influenced by what he says. . . . The administration's complete repudiation of the democratic platform, so thoroughly described by Mr. Smith, seems to us to be the part of the speech most difficult to answer.

BOSTON HERALD (Republican): Without intending to do so, Mr. Smith probably laid the foundation of the republican 1936 platform—and it may be that, after the election next November, we shall be saying that the cankers of democracy in the New Deal rose in tribute to Representative Woodrum, democrat, Virginia, after a speech in which he said "Smith won't take a walk in Philadelphia; he took a walk in Chicago."

BOSTON POST (Independent Democratic): As one of the President's sincere supporters, we fervently wish that he would awaken to the danger that confronts him in the loss of a large measure of his public support. Even if much of Mr. Smith's indictment may be effectively countered, he said what an uncomfortable (in a political sense) large number of Americans are thinking.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH (Independent): Like the political speech of the President at the opening of congress, it (Smith's speech) contained considerably more heat than light. The President uttered an all-embracing encomium upon the New Deal. Mr. Smith damned it without reservation. As for Mr. Smith's assertion that our choice of capitals is between Washington and Moscow, that is plain poppycock.

WASHINGTON POST (Independent): The "Happy Warrior" has struck a blow at the administration that no other man in the country could have delivered. And he has skillfully shielded himself against counter-attack by taking refuge behind the democratic party platform of 1932.

WASHINGTON EVENING STAR (Independent): Answering the speech of Mr. Smith will be no easy task. Mr. Smith was careful to keep away from personalities in his address. He confined himself to attacks on policies, not men. Judging from the comment already put forward by Roosevelt leaders, Mr. Smith will receive no such treatment at their hands.

BOSTON TRANSCRIPT (Independent Republican): It was a devastating attack on the New Deal. . . . It was not the best organized criticism of the Roosevelt program that has been made, but it probably will prove to be far and away the most effective statement of the pre-campaign period. . . . Without a doubt it was the "Happy Warrior" of old. . . . But this time the warrior was on a scolding party and he did the job with neatness and dispatch.

CHICAGO TRIBUNE (Independent Republican): With characteristic candor and deep feeling, Mr. Smith rebuked the administration's repudiation of its own platform and its betrayal of party principles.

THE DALLAS (TEXAS) TIMES-HERALD (Democratic): The big result of Al Smith's speech was that it set people to thinking, and when the voters generally begin to do their own pondering something good for all of us is bound to happen, if there is any virtue in a democratic form of government.

SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE (Republican): Governor Smith voiced the conviction of the American people when he said we want no autocrat in Washington and would not stand for even a good one.

DENVER POST (Independent): Al Smith read President Roosevelt out of the democratic party. The most devastating thing about his repudiation of the administration is the fact that it is unanswerable. His conclusions merely confirmed the independent judgment of millions of good American citizens who have arrived unwillingly at the decision the New Deal is neither democratic nor American.

TAMPA (FLA.) DAILY TIMES: So far as actual partisans are concerned Mr. Smith's speech will hardly make a vote. But as much cannot be said regarding the effect on the independent who usually holds the balance of power in presidential elections. Unless the democratic party chiefs are prepared to argue the matters of principle involved in answer to Mr. Smith's questions, they have raised, ignoring merely personal and partisan factors, results may be as serious as the democratic party as those of 1912 for the republicans.

ent candidate would occupy the meeting.

Defeat Predicted. Talmadge predicted Roosevelt would be defeated in convention. That suggestion has been taken up by party spokesmen here, who also contend a formidable bolt in the party during the campaign is out of the question. . . .

Referring to contentions that the administration had disregarded the 1932 platform, he recalled that Smith in 1932 undertook to campaign against prohibition despite the "law enforcement plank."

"Smith says America is being ruined," he exclaimed, "and what does he do? He takes a walk. Can you imagine Jackson, Jefferson, Cleveland or Franklin D. Roosevelt taking a walk when the country was in danger?"

"Where the feathers fly is where the shot hit," rejoined Representative Fish, republican, New York. "Governor Smith in his speech takes exactly the same point of view as the republican party."

Applause from the democratic side drowned his next words. He repeated, "when he stands for constitutional government and restoration of the powers of the legislature."

Representative Gifford, republican, Massachusetts, said Smith was "walking on a socialist party to which he never belonged."

Representative Lee, democrat, Oklahoma, insisted the administration had respected the spirit of the democratic platform and the constitution. "Liberty League—what a misnomer," he said. "License league is better, license to exploit the millions of consumers and workers."

Home Owners Are Nation's Hope, Declares FHA Official at 'Clinic'

The destiny of the nation rests with home-owners and not furnished roomers or boarders. Ernest J. How, state executive of the Federal Housing Administration at Washington, declared here last night.

Mr. How was principal speaker at two meetings inaugurating the insured mortgage clinic which opens at 9 o'clock this morning at 101 Marietta street, under sponsorship of the Federal Housing Administration.

He spoke first, at a dinner-meeting in a downtown hotel at 7 o'clock last night, attended by 300 representatives of banks, building trades, utilities and architects.

The second meeting was held at 8 o'clock last night in the Erlanger theater, and was attended by 700 Atlanta citizens who, braving the cold weather to hear details and explanations of the FHA plan, filled the lower floor of the theater.

Julian V. Boehm, chairman of the insured mortgage clinic committee, presided at both gatherings, and introduced the speakers.

Boehm, here as personal representative of Stewart MacDonald, FHA administrator at Washington, other speakers were Judge Waldo DeLoach, Georgia state director of the FHA, W. A. Simon, associate state director, and Harry F. McManus, special financial representative of the FHA at Washington.

Judge DeLoach was the first speaker at the theater meeting. He spoke briefly, declaring "it was a source of great satisfaction that so many citizens staff for headquarters at a local hotel. He refused to comment at wheeling. . . .

The speech Wednesday night by Governor London, of Kansas, celebrating the 75th anniversary of the state's entry into the Union and expected to deal with national issues, also was being awaited. Friends have projected clubs on behalf of his nomination in many states; but he himself has refused to show whether he will seek to parallel Borah's activity.

Some republicans talked privately of hiding for support from disaffected democrats involved in a vote at the Cleveland convention, and possibly naming one for second place on the ticket.

Others, including Knox, favored incorporating in the platform the outstanding planks of the 1932 democratic platform which Smith and others contend were "thrown in the waste basket."

"These do not deal with partisan questions," Knox said. "They concern themselves wholly with economic problems. They fit as readily into a republican credo as a democratic."

He viewed the Smith speech as added weight for the suggestion.

AL SMITH'S ADDRESS UPSETS TAMMANY HEADS. NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Alfred E. Smith's fighting words against the New Deal plunged Tammany Hall into a dilemma tonight which threatened both its leadership and the Tammany prestige of "Sachem" Smith.

Out of the Tammany consternation over Smith's speech between the American League and all of the conjecture occasioned by it, there came general agreement among democratic leaders in Smith's home town that Tammany must decide upon two courses.

One is to reaffirm its pledge of cooperation with the state and national democratic parties—both directed by James A. Farley—the other, to side with Smith as a veteran counselor.

Decision up to Dooling. The decision lies with young James J. Dooling, who assumed the Tammany leadership in July, 1934, with the general approval of Farley. But it also became known today that an uprising to unseat Dooling brewed among Tammany district leaders demanding a clear-cut affirmation of Tammany support for President Roosevelt in the Philadelphia convention.

NAZI RHINE ACTION ATTACKED BY FRANCE

French Say Nazis Violated Versailles Treaty by Militarizing Zone.

By FREDERICK KUH.

(Copyright, 1936, by United Press.)

LONDON, Jan. 27.—(UP)—French charges that Germany has violated the Versailles treaty by militarizing the Rhineland zone were officially made to the British foreign office tonight, it was reported.

Pierre Etienne Flandin, French foreign minister here for King George's funeral tomorrow, conferred with Captain Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, it was understood. Eden asked Flandin to state the exact attitude France wishes to adopt.

The Versailles treaty, which ended the World War, foresaw possible violation of the demilitarized zone section of the document and specified: "In case Germany violates this provision in any manner she shall be regarded as committing a hostile act against others signatory to the present treaty and as calculated to disturb the peace of the world."

The treaty stipulated demilitarization of the left bank of the Rhine and of the right bank westward of a line drawn 60 kilometers east of the Rhine, the third anniversary of Adolf Hitler's rise to power—there may be naval military demonstrations within the forbidden zone, with or without official complaint to the League of Nations.

Technically violation of the demilitarized zone could not be construed as German aggression, hence would not fall within the League of Nations charter which England and Italy would have to stand beside France. On the contrary, experts in treaty matters say violation of the zone would only concern members of the League of Nations.

Punishment Not Mentioned. It was believed this was the point Eden asked Flandin to clarify. The treaty section foreseeing possible violation of the demilitarized zone does not mention specific punishment for Germany, which therefore would be left to the League council and would probably be limited to a motion of blame. It is considered extremely unlikely that this would satisfy France.

FRENCH PRESS ATTACKS GERMANY PARIS, Jan. 27.—(UP)—The French press charged tonight that Germany has secretly built a "Hindenburg line of the air" in the forbidden Rhineland for the "next invasion of France."

A chain of ultra-modern military airports with underground hangars and living quarters safe from bombardment, extending from the North sea to the Swiss frontier, was described in the newspaper Escorial. The sensational article purported to indicate even the direction from which the feared invasion would strike.

The Paris press published extensive details of the alleged military preparations.

FT. BENNING STUDENTS TO VISIT M'PHERSON FORT BENNING, Ga., Jan. 27.—A convoy of 32 vehicles, making a trip to Atlanta and return, will feature this week's instruction program of the tank course students at the Infantry school. The convoy will leave Fort Benning tomorrow morning, according to schedule, will arrive at Fort McPherson about noon and will remain there until Thursday morning, when the return trip is to be made. During their stay there the class will be conducted on tours of inspection through a number of large industrial plants.

AUTO KILLS MINISTER AT HOME NEAR BAXLEY BAXLEY, Ga., Jan. 27.—Rev. George Moody, 60, was killed by an automobile bearing a Maryland license tag in front of his home on Federal Highway No. 1, five miles north of Baxley, this afternoon. Funeral services will be at Spring Branch Baptist church, Rev. Willie R. Beall, of Millwood, officiating, and burial with Masonic honors in the family cemetery by Holmesville Lodge, of which Rev. Moody was chaplain.

Rev. Moody is survived by his widow, two daughters, Mrs. M. L. Nabers, of Macon, Miss Winifred Moody, of Baxley; five sons, Hubert Lamar, Norwood, Harold and Broadwood Moody, of Appling county; one brother, J. G. Moody, of Vidalia.

APPROPRIATION BILL DELAYED BY DEBATE WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(AP)—The session's third appropriation bill, an $81,221,230 measure, came up for house consideration today but was virtually shelved by political debate over the Alfred E. Smith speech.

The big share of the 1936-37 supply bill as brought in by the appropriations committee was for the Bureau of Indian Affairs, $27,101,170. The bill also included a $900,000 appropriation for the new bituminous coal commission administering unit for the office act.

alive "evidence" that Germany has circumvented provisions of the Versailles treaty which established a demilitarized Rhineland zone, from 50 to 100 kilometers wide, extending the whole length of Germany. The zone was to remain inviolate from fortification or military occupation for 50 years after 1919, when the World War ended.

McCONNELL IS FREED ON FLORIDA CHARGES Advised last night by The Constitution that J. C. McConnell Jr., who is said to have escaped from the Atlanta city jail last summer in company with W. A. Reeves and R. E. Haney, had been cleared of robbery charges against him in Tampa, Lieutenant C. E. McCrary, of the Atlanta detective department, said that he would only wait for official word from Tampa police before sending McConnell.

I wrote police at Tampa several days ago that if we could not get all three of the escaped men back in Atlanta to stand trial I would like to get one or two of them when no longer wanted by Tampa police," Lieutenant McCrary said last night. "As soon as we get word from police there that McConnell is no longer wanted in Tampa we will be only too glad to get him back in our custody."

The trio escaped by sawing their way out of the new Atlanta newspaper building, the third anniversary of the building and of the construction and materials used in the building.

A Grave Mistake for a Mother to Make

GIVING CHILD UNKNOWN REMEDIES WITHOUT ASKING DOCTOR FIRST

GIVING your child a medicine or remedy you don't know all about—without asking your family doctor first—is a bad risk for any mother to take.

Doctors and child authorities say health, and sometimes life itself, depends on this.

So—when you're offered a "bargain" in a remedy for your child; ask your doctor before you buy it. Do this for your child's sake and your own peace of mind.

Ask him particularly about the frequently used "milk of magnesia"—about Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. He will tell you that for over 60 years physicians have endorsed it as SAFE for your child. The kind of remedy you want your child to have.

Remember this when you buy, and say "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" to your druggist. Comes now, also, in tablets that taste of peppermint, that children like to take.

Sally Forth Acclaims Work Of Miss Pierce, Native Atlantan

By Sally Forth.

SALLY is justly proud when she may acclaim the work of a native Atlantan, such as Lillian M. Pierce, whose work has appeared in newspapers and poetry magazines throughout the United States. Miss Pierce is the retired assistant principal of Commercial High school, and the main charm of her creations is in the fact that the thought behind each poem is intensely felt by the author. Her interest in poetry evolved chiefly from the strained and shaky condition of the country during the depression, and she lifted her pen to voice the economic sentiments which many Americans were unconsciously experiencing.

Through her correspondence with Ben H. Smith, pastor-editor of the poetry magazine, Blue Moon, she came in contact with Marion Blodgett and the amateur journalist's society known as Hodge Podge. Her letters to Mr. Smith were written in verse, and his replies were done similarly. He was greatly interested in her poetry and introduced her to Marion Blodgett, who, also interested, has recently published a booklet containing a few of her more spectacular poems as a gift.

Her first poem, entitled "Civilization," was the outgrowth of her observation of a bewildered country suffering a monetary crisis, and she, quite appropriately, sent it to a labor journal, which promptly approved of and published it. Since that time she has met with unusual success, her poems having been published in Beaux Arts, Blue Moon, other poetry publications and many newspapers, north and south.

The fact that two young Atlanta men, while enjoying dinner on Thursday, heard about the value and beauty of the Erich-Newhouse collection at the High Museum of Art, and know how to work fire extinguishers, is credited with having much to do with saving the valuable collections at the museum when it was damaged by fire Thursday.

Dan Dockstader and Fred Woodruff heard Mrs. D. M. Dockstader discussing on the value of the collection, and later started out for the evening, little dreaming how soon they were going to view the paintings under unforeseen circumstances. After dinner, Dan and Fred attended a lecture which dealt with fire prevention and what to do in case of fire. Like most men, they are moved to follow a fire engine, and when they saw Chief Parker's "little red wagon" dashing out Peachtree, they started after it. And the destination of the fire fighter was none other than the High Museum of Art.

Dan and Fred, who are in the fire insurance business, know their fire extinguishers, so upon arriving at the museum they immediately turned them on the fire. The young men worked fast and furiously to save the pictures in the collection and are credited with saving all but two. It was a lucky break for the fire fighters that they had two such able assistants who knew their job and the value of what they were trying to save.

HE CAME all the way from the frozen north to the sunny south just to spend a few days with the lady of his choice, who is one of the season's most popular debutantes. He had never been south before, and he brought a bathing suit. He was so disappointed when he found that this is not the season for swimming, even in the sunny south, that the young lady took him to the Athletic Club, and they swam under the beaming rays of an electric light.

WHEN Frances Upshaw recently became the bride of Edward Ash at Sacred Heart church, one of her close friends was unable to attend the marriage because of illness. That friend was Mary Elizabeth McGill, who is recuperating at her home on Fifth street. Frances wanted to see Mary Elizabeth on that "day of days," and as soon as the ceremony was over, the bride and groom went by Mary Elizabeth's home in order to treasure the memory of her congratulations on the day they took the orange blossom trail.

TWO Georgians in whom Atlantans are always interested are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hunt, of Griffin. Mrs. Hunt is the mother of Mrs. William McDougall and as the former Addavale Kincaid Thomas, of Griffin, has been a great social favorite in Atlanta. She and Mr. Hunt recently have been enjoying a delightful motor trip to points in Florida, having spent most of the time in St. Petersburg, where Mrs. Hunt was formerly chaperone of a charming winter home. Last Saturday they sailed from Miami for Nassau, where they will spend some time. Mr. and Mrs. Hunt, who resided in Chicago for several years after their marriage, returned to Griffin last year and opened the handsome Kincaid home, where they frequently entertained groups of their Atlanta friends.

United Sixteen Club Entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Lawson entertained the United Sixteen Club at their home in Inman Park, recently. Alton Sexton won high score prize, Miss Frances Lawson assisted the hosts in entertaining. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Grady Brinsden, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Sexton, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Sexton, Mr. and Mrs. Frank George, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Lawson and Miss Frances Ingram and Frances Lawson. Mr. and Mrs. Grady Brinsden will be hostess to the club at the next meeting, at their home in Decatur.

Wesleyan Group No. 3.

Mrs. W. H. Slater entertained Group No. 3 of the Atlanta Wesleyan Club on Thursday at her home on Brookhaven drive. Mrs. Claude Nelson gave the last of a series of talks which included a study of religion in Russia, Germany and Italy, and a discussion of the League of Nations. Tea was served to the following: Mesdames J. T. Callaway, Jonnie Greene, Carroll Griffin, Hugh Harvard, Yonnie Farmer, W. H. Barnwell, H. T. Maddox, J. V. Poole, George H. Slapper, Roy Smith, W. D. Singletary, Clyde Withers, J. E. Van Valkenberg, Miss Miriam Rogers and Mrs. Slater.

Girl Scouts To Form New Brownie Pack

A new Brownie pack will be organized Wednesday at 3 o'clock in the kindergarten room of the Washington Seminary as announced by Mrs. Trenton Tunah, of the Atlanta Girl Scout Council. The Brownie program is a branch of the Girl Scout movement designed to furnish recreational activities for girls between the ages of seven and ten years.

A pack is composed of eight to 16 members under the leadership of an experienced adult, who is known to the pack as "Brown Owl." Revels are held in true Brownie fashion around the toadstool, and include games, songs, simple handicraft and activities that appeal to the seven to ten-year-old girl.

Miss Emmeline Goulet, trained in work with younger children and experienced in the Girl Scout program, will be the leader of the new pack. Among those expected at the first meeting are Misses Constance Tunah, Jeanette Palmer, Laura Burgess, Sarah Curry, Catherine Davis, Catherine Geschen, Virginia Harrison, Kathleen Lenz, Mary Anne Patterson, Emily Pruitt, Ellen Quarterman and Peggy Gray.

My Day

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

THE WHITE HOUSE, WASHINGTON, D. C.—I went to a meeting of the Youth Congress Saturday afternoon. I refused to speak but agreed to answer any questions I could. The questions raised were interesting. One young man seemed to feel that, because in four counties in Indiana martial law had been declared, and there had been horrible shootings and murders in other places, that our whole form of democratic government was menaced.

I had to point out that we had lived through a great variety of changes in the past, and our conception of social justice had evolved year by year, and that, in all probability, we would live through this situation and still remain a democracy.

I was deeply impressed, however, with the earnestness of these young people. They have a real desire to contribute to the solution of their own problems, and try to think through the questions before them. They consider themselves as a part of the whole situation and not as a special group.

Sunday is the one day of the week when my husband is always sure of being with us for luncheon, so I try to have people who particularly want to see him.

We had almost a marine corps luncheon for Mrs. George Barnett, widow of General Barnett, who was head of the marine corps when my husband was assistant secretary of the navy.

Also with us were two marine corps officers and their wives, Lieutenant Colonel Shepherd and Captain Carlson. They had been in charge of the marine corps camp at Warm Springs, Ga., when my husband was there last autumn and now are stationed at Quantico.

Miss Thyra Perry Honors Miss Brooke

As a complimentary gesture to Miss Ruth Brooke, whose marriage to Lieutenant Daniel Norman Sundt will be a brilliant event of February 5, Miss Thyra Perry will be hostess at a luncheon on Saturday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock at 1843 Flagler avenue, the home of her sister, Mrs. W. J. Gay.

Miss Perry will be assisted in entertaining by Mesdames W. S. Mitchell Jr., J. C. Tyler and W. J. Gay. A number of friends of the hostess and honor guest are invited to attend.

An interesting affair yesterday was the tea given by Miss James C. Malone and her daughter, Miss Dorothy Malone, at their home on Fairview road, in honor of Miss Brooke. The tea table was decorated with a silver bowl filled with spring flowers, flanked by silver candelabra holding burning white tapers.

Household Arts

By ALICE BROOKS.

PATTERN 5499
ADD A TOUCH OF BRIGHTNESS WITH NEW NECKWEAR.

Is there anything as fresh, and eye-impelling as a light-colored dark frock? Thus Alice Brooks has hurried to bring you these three easily crocheted touches. There is a lacy, rippling, bob of cotton, done in simple mesh; a round collar of petite boucle, and a petal-like one of tabs, with an Irish crochet rose on each. They're surprisingly easy to do.

In pattern 5499 you will find complete instructions for making the collars shown; an illustration of them, and of all the stitches needed; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10c in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to Household Arts Dept., The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

The following officers were elected for 1936: President, Beverly Barrow; secretary, Elizabeth Steadman; treasurer, Mamie Lou Ross; personal service, Margaret Brantley, and devotional, Leila Kilpatrick.

NANCY PAGE

You'll Remember This Stunning Quilt Without Difficulty

By FLORENCE La GANKE.

"Oh, my, what a stunning looking block. What do you call it, Nancy?"

"My name for it is 'memory block.' But when it is made up it won't be as striking as it looks in the picture. If you were to choose black or exceedingly dark pieces for those shown in the picture the finished quilt would hit you in the eye every time you looked at it. I used the dark color to show the contrast when you looked at the picture in the paper. In actuality I would choose dark shades, one of medium darkness block. I would use white for the background."

"I think that the dark blocks as you have them show that some one has some deep and bitter memories. Nancy, I'd rather think of mine as being more pleasant." "Right you are. That is another argument for choosing colors that are not too heavy and intense."

This design is capable of development in a number of ways. The blocks may be put together to form an all over pattern in which the dark triangles follow each other up and down the quilt. Or it may be put together with alternate blocks of the same size of white. These may be set together on the straight or on the bias. Bear in mind that when the block is straight the pattern goes on the diagonal. To get a straight up and down the pattern you would have to put the blocks together on the bias.

The direction leaflet with the design full size may be procured by following the directions given at the end of the column.

The pieces as given do not allow for seams. That means you must allow one quarter inch on all sides when cutting them out.

A quilt for a double bed, made 90 by 106 inches to go over the pillows like a spread, will require five yards of white, three yards of dark and two and one-half of a medium light color. A three-quarter size bed quilt is made 84 inches wide instead of 90 and a single bed quilt is made 72 inches wide. All of them have the same length, 106 inches, if the quilt is to go over the pillows, 96 inches if it slides under them and does not cover them at all.

The actual pattern for "Memory Block" Design may be obtained by sending three cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Nancy Page in care of The Atlanta Constitution. Back patterns may be secured by sending an additional three cents for each pattern requested.

Dickson-Murphy

LOUISVILLE, Ga., Jan. 27.—The marriage of Miss Mary Elizabeth Dickson to Wiley S. Murphy, both of Louisville, was solemnized Sunday by Rev. J. D. Rabun, of Lyons, great-uncle of the bride, who also officiated at the wedding of the bride's parents.

Miss Anna Conner rendered a musical program and Mrs. W. B. Calhoun, great-aunt of the bride, sang. The bride was becomingly gowned in a dark blue coat suit, with hat and other accessories to match. Her flowers were pink roses and valley lilies.

During the reception following the ceremony, Miss Margaret Durden, of Waynesboro, presided over the guest book. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Dickson, of Louisville, and the groom is well known here.

Battle for Third Base To Feature Detroit's Spring Training

BREAK O'DAY!

Bobby Jones is quite naturally inordinately proud of his setter dog, Elokonee Sport, which won the all-age stake in the southern amateur field trials last week. The all-age stake is the stake to win.

BOBBY JONES.

Elokonee Sport was thought to be a bit unsteady to shot and wing before the trials. He had shown a lot of range and speed in hunting, but it was his first field trial.

He came through in the pinches, making beautiful casts and standing steady to shot and wing in the handling of two coveys which he pointed.

Bobby Jones did not turn to hunting dogs when he retired from golf with the greatest record ever assembled in any competition. He simply found more time for them. He was going to field trials and hunting as often as possible during the years of his golf competitions.

The intelligence of the trained field dog is a constant source of amazement and pride to him as it is to all who follow them. He believes, with other owners of birds dogs, there is no doubt but that dogs reason. The manner in which they learn which sort of cover is likely to contain birds and which will not, is proof enough. But there are other indications of the working of a dog's intelligence which makes it obvious the dog reasons and does not go along on mere instinct.

Bobby Jones' dog, like the pointer Springwood Spider which finished in second place, is very much of a house pet. Yet neither dog, when released at the trials, thought of playing around. Both began to use the one talent awarded them—the hunting of birds and the pointing thereof. There is no finer picture presented on nature's canvas than that of the hunting dogs in action.

THE IRON GRIP.

It isn't safe to go around the bird dog people when they have won a field trial. And it is extremely hazardous to put one's self into the neighborhood with a gentleman who has placed a dog first and second in the southern amateur derby—or any other derby, for that matter.

So it was with more than mild trepidation I ducked in out of the wind to see Major Trammell Scott yesterday. It was Mr. Scott who handled Norias Ichuaway Kate and Mike Milligan's Lassie to a double victory at All-Benny last week in the trials there.

"Got just a minute, just wanted to ask about the dogs. Well, I'll be going—"

It was Mr. Coleridge who wrote about the grip which the Ancient Mariner went around putting on to people. It was as nothing compared with Mr. Scott's grip when he talks about field trial winners.

He handled the entries for Robert W. Woodruff and they placed, as aforesaid, first and second in the derby.

It is quite possible the winner may be campaigned on the national circuit. She is said to be one of the finest prospects to appear in some years.

AL GORDON'S LAST WALL.

No one living a routine existence understands the speed drivers.

Al Gordon went over the wall at the Ascot speedway in Los Angeles Sunday and they picked him up dying.

The last time I saw Al Gordon was last May 30 at Indianapolis when the big Iron Derby, the 500-mile automobile race, was being run.

Early in the race there had been a cloud of dust at the far turn coming into the stretch. The eerie sound of the meat wagon going for its load sounded, the infield crowd began to run, and the metallic, emotionless, expressionless voice came over the announcer:

"Al Gordon has gone over the wall. Al Gordon has gone over the wall."

A few minutes later the flat, toneless voice said:

"Al Gordon is unhurt. Al Gordon is unhurt."

It was almost an hour later I saw Al Gordon. He was down in the pits. One side of his steel crash helmet was worn paper-thin where it had been scraped along the concrete as he and his car smashed over the wall. Death had missed him by the thickness of your newspaper page.

He was nervous. Not from the accident. He had forgot that. But there he stood, wringing his hands and saying: "Why doesn't he come in? Why doesn't he come on in?"

A friend had promised him he could drive relief and he was all in a jitter because the car wouldn't come on in and let him slip behind the wheel and get back there on that roaring two and a half miles of bricks and drive again.

He had gone over the wall three times at Indianapolis, once less than an hour before, and yet there he was wanting to go again.

You give me the answer. I couldn't get it. I've talked with dozens of the drivers. They'd drive for speed if they weren't paid for it.

Walking back through the tunnel to the press box in the infield, I recall wondering about all of the tribe out there with their motors roaring—the first 10 averaged more than 100 miles an hour for the 500 miles that day.

The lure of speed—wings of the wind—and the grim challenge that's always there—and always the men to answer it.

MAXWELL LOSES TONSILS.

Dick Maxwell, former University of Georgia football star and now one of the city's young businessmen, lost his tonsils yesterday at Piedmont hospital. While coming out of the ether he scored on Yale, made love to the nurse and sang two verses of Mr. Paul Jones' Rebel song. He leaves the hospital tomorrow.

BULLDOGS TAKE FIRST WORKOUT AS 84 TURN OUT

Mehre Plans To Speed Spring Drills; Plans Scrimmages.

ATHENS, Ga., Jan. 27.—(AP)—Numbering approximately 84, a varied assortment of football timber was on hand for Georgia's initial spring practice workout this afternoon.

As things stacked up opening day Coach Harry Mehre had about two parts old hands to one part fresh prospects. All in all, positional line-ups were as follows: ten quarterbacks, seven right halfbacks, six left halfbacks, eight fullbacks, 15 ends, 16 tackles, 15 guards, seven centers.

Eligibles not on hand for the first drill held in sub-freezing weather on Stanford field included Johnny Jones, right halfback, who will report within a week after making up scholastic work accumulated when he dropped out of school a few days due to his father's death. Forrest "Spec" Townes, end, is preparing for a track campaign; Asa Candler, end, who has not decided whether he will return for his final year of competition; Harman tackle, Charlie Harrold, end, Lee Richards, center basketball.

Coach Mehre indicated that he will speed up work this spring. Rough work, even scrimmages, will be in order within a few days. Conditioning and fundamentals will take up the major portion of this week. Today's practice consisted of exercises, punting and general instructions. Incidentally Harry Stevens, ex-freshman whose right foot was injured in the game with Tech in November, appears to have recovered. He will be cautious, however, for fear that he will reinjure the toe that racked up an average of some 45 yards on punts in two games.

Jim Cavan, halfback, Decatur, reported after missing last fall's campaign. Out then with a trick knee, he is expected to be ready for action this spring. Sam McAllister, appointed to succeed Tiger Bennett, who resigned as line coach, is expected to arrive Tuesday.

60 Tiders Greeted

By Icy Weather.

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Jan. 27.—(AP)—Below freezing weather greeted the University of Alabama football squad today as 60 candidates turned out for the first of the spring training drills.

The Tide aspirants were put through their paces in the gymnasium with dummy scrimmage, calisthenics and signal drills on the program.

The most conspicuous absentee was Bill Peters, guards, whose knee injury, suffered in the Georgia game last fall, may prevent him from ever playing football again.

ROSS IS WINNER

BY KAYO IN 8TH

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Welterweight Champion Barney Ross took all the roughness and toughness out of rough, tough Lou Halper in seven rounds tonight and then stopped the heavier Newark, N. J., brawler in the eighth frame of their scheduled 10-rounder at Convention hall.

Referee Frank Knarsborough halted the fight at 2 minutes 30 seconds of the eighth, after Halper had been floored once for a nine count with a vicious right-hand smash, and was on the verge of going down again.

Ross scaled 142, spotting his opponent eight pounds for the set-to which attracted 6,000 fans.

TRIANGLES BEAT CLOTHIERS, 45-42

Flashing their best form of the season, the Y. M. C. A. Triangles last night defeated Parks-Chambers on the Russell court, 45-42.

The southern amateur champs, in the midst of a strenuous schedule in preparation for the southern invitation tournament, displayed a much improved team in all departments of the game.

The "X" squad will meet their old foe, the Jewish Progressive Club, Wednesday night on the Pryor Street court. The Triangles will be partly handicapped by the loss of their regular center, Mike Hudson, who is out with a broken arm.

Dyer Named Leader Of Columbus Club

COLUMBUS, Ga., Jan. 27.—(AP)—Eddie Dyer, former St. Louis Cardinal pitcher, will be president and manager of the Columbus club of the South Atlantic league, and T. C. Reeves will be chairman of the board of directors of the Columbus Baseball Association, it was announced Monday by Reeves.

Dyer for the past several years has served as manager of Cardinal-owned minor league clubs and is regarded as one of the best pilots in the Red Sox organization.

Branch Rickey, vice president and general manager of the Cardinals, will be a vice president of the Columbus club and William Dewitt, assistant to Rickey, will be a director also.

Druid Hills Club To Elect Officers

Election of officers will feature the annual meeting of the Druid Hills Golf Club tonight at the club. The business session will start at 8:30 o'clock, with the meeting of the members.

A buffet supper will be served at 7 o'clock, after which the president and committee reports of last year will be heard. The new officers will be introduced to the membership at 8 o'clock and plans for the year will be outlined at that time. A dance from 9 to 12 will close the annual program.

SMITHIES PLAY TYPISTS; MARIST FACES MONROE

Purples Meet Watkinsville; Double-headers Feature Play in N. G. I. C.

By Roy White.

A double-header on the Y. W. C. A. court at 5 and 8 o'clock will feature the fifth round of the prep basketball league. Commercial High, tied with Boys' High and G. M. A. for second place, plays Tech High in the first of the twin bill, with the Monroe Aggies, undefeated league leaders, playing Marist in the last half of the double-header.

Those will be the only games in the prep league, as Boys' High plays at Watkinsville tonight and meets Columbus Industrial Wednesday afternoon on the Henry Grady court in a league game.

Three double-headers will be played today by members of the North Georgia Interscholastic Conference, in the semi-final week of play before tournament time.

Russell plays two games with North Fulton on the Buckhead court in the feature of the N. G. I. C. Russell won the championship last year, but the East Point Wildcats have not been going so well this year. The girls' game will open the program.

Marietta plays a double-header with Decatur at 7:30 o'clock on the Decatur court and Druid Hills journeys to Fairburn for two games in the remaining contests for members of the N. G. I. C.

Particular interest will be centered about the double-header on the Y. W. C. A. court. Marist has a chance to move into a tie for third place and also to upset the undefeated Monroe Aggie team. Marist won its first game over Tech High last week and has shown considerable improvement.

Commercial will have plenty of trouble with Tech High, who have yet to win a game. The Smithies won the crown last year and also the state championship, but lost the entire team by graduation and have not fared so well with a new, inexperienced team this year.

Jim Braddock Is Kayoed On Links

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 27.—(UP)—Jim Braddock, titled the world's best amateur golfer, played probably the world's worst game of golf this year today.

His 18-hole card revealed something like 175 strokes, omitting those holes where rules were waived and the champion was allowed to kick the ball out of sand traps.

"I'm convinced," said Braddock, "that fighting is the best way to make a living. Golf must be out of my mind. I hit a hole in one last night, and I'm lucky if it goes 25 yards."

Quite a bit of the time he was lucky if he hit it, he said.

"Looks like a man of my size ought to knock a golf ball a mile. They ought to make clubs twice this size, and I think the balls should be more the size of a baseball."

Braddock, at 210 pounds, stood 6 feet and 3 inches above the ball. He resembled Lawson Little, the amateur champion, in everything but fairway style and results.

He wouldn't turn in a score, but "guessed it was way up there. I was kayoed on the 10th green."

Ole Miss Defeats Crimson Tide, 42-34

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Jan. 27.—(AP)—The University of Mississippi opened its conference schedule here tonight by winning over a taller University of Alabama team, 42 to 34.

Coach Ed Walker's team of sophomores spotted Alabama a 6-point lead early in the game and trailed 25-20 at the half, but took command in the second period as Country Graham, ace forward, seemingly couldn't miss the basket.

Alabama, accurate on long shots in the first half, was held to two field goals and nine points during the latter period.

North Avenue Plays North Fulton Team

North Avenue Presbyterian will resume its basketball schedule Wednesday afternoon on the Buckhead court against North Fulton, N. A. P. S. defeats North Fulton, 39 to 31, last week and won a 28-to-27 victory over Marietta Saturday night.

Friday night North Avenue will play Cooper Hall in Rome.

Roche and Kirchmyer Top Mat Bill Tonight

Roland Kirchmyer's deadly scissors—He cut down Babe Zaharias with a paring case last week, and figures to continue his tactics. Kirchmyer is an Oklahoma giant who cares very little for Pennsylvania coal miners, one of which he was to be Roche.

Father Lumpkin, of Tech football fame, will clash with George Tragos in the semi-windup. Lumpkin has acquired much experience in the ring since he left the gridiron. He stands a good chance to upset the wily Greek tonight.

Marshall Blackstock and Benny Tragos meet in the half-hour opening bout. The card will begin at 8:30.

Signs With White Sox

Marshall Mauldin, who played for Longview in the West Dixie league last season, has returned his signed contract to the White Sox. Mauldin batted .337 in his second year of professional ball, made the most hits, was second in fielding and third in total bases. He was selected on the all-star team. Mauldin reports to the White Sox camp at Pasadena, Cal., in March. He hopes to join Luke Appling, who was his best man at his wedding in October, as a regular on the Chicago club. He played 12 games with the Pale Hose in 1934. Staff photo by J. T. Holloway.

A Bite on Ankle Sent Mauldin Into Baseball

White Sox Prospect Will Report to Pasadena Camp Early in March.

By Jack Troy.

It may be that a vicious bite on the ankle five years ago will prove a blessing in disguise for the Chicago White Sox.

Back in 1931, Marshall Mauldin had an idea he would take up wrestling as a means of livelihood.

One night he was entangled with an opponent in a neighborhood arena here and suddenly discovered that his ankle was being mistaken for a leg of lamb.

Mauldin came out of that so-called hold much unlike a lamb and decided that henceforth he would expend his energy in a saner field, where life and limb were held more sacred.

So he returned to baseball.

Mauldin recently returned his signed contract to the White Sox. He will report to camp with the Chicago at Pasadena, Cal., in March. He will leave Atlanta on February 26.

MUCH HAPPENS.

Much has transpired to make life interesting for 21-year-old Marshall Mauldin since that eventful wrestling match in 1931.

He has played two years of professional baseball, including 12 major league games with the White Sox in '34.

Mauldin really started his professional career with Lafayette, La., in '34. He batted .318 that year and finished the season with the White Sox.

Previously, he had played with Alpha class, managed by Jumbo Parker, had trials with Chattanooga, then New Orleans and finally stuck with Lafayette.

Last year was the highlight year of his pro career. Mauldin, playing with Longview in the West Dixie league, batted .337 and was second in fielding. He played in 134 games, missing only one.

OUTFIELDER NOW.

Originally a third baseman, the Chicago changed him into an outfielder. He played center field for Longview and was selected at that position on the all-star team.

Mauldin made the most hits for the season, 179, was second in total bases with 243. He batted out five home runs, nine triples and 33 doubles. He was third in two-base hits.

He played every position except catcher, first base and left field last year. They traveled in buses. Mauldin says he rode so many that even now when he hears a horn blow he grabs around for a bat bag.

Mauldin, who stands 5 feet 11 inches and weighs 160 pounds, feels his chances are better than ever for striking with the White Sox this spring. He has gained much needed experience. He bats and throws right-handed.

STARK BECOMES FIRST HOLDOUT AMONG UMPIRES

Dolly Threatens To Quit National Loop Unless Pay Is Raised.

By Eddie Brietz.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP)—A brand-new species of the baseball holdout bobbed up today when Albert D. (Dolly) Stark, ace of the National league umpiring staff, became the first to quit his job because of salary trouble.

Stark said he has told President Ford C. Frick he is "through." Frick said he would not accept the resignation, hoping Stark would reconsider, at least for one more season.

In town from Hanover, N. H., where he coaches a month's basketball team, Stark said:

"You can list me as a holdout. That's the story. Unless the league sees fit to pay me more money, I'm done. I don't like umpiring well enough to make it a business at the present scale of salaries."

"I want to do bigger work than umpiring and I want to get bigger money. I hope I can stay in baseball, either as manager or business manager. Ultimately I hope to have such a job on a major league club."

"Mr. Frick has been grand to me. I just am not satisfied to keep on at what I am doing. I am going to do as much as most other umpires, it's up to me to move and that's what I'm doing."

At the height of his career right now, Stark has been in the National league since 1928. An arm injury cut short his playing career.

Popular alike with fans and players, Stark was presented an automobile last season by a group of New York admirers.

Subsequently he was voted the National league's ranking umpire in a poll of players.

FRICK QUIET.

Frick would not discuss the salary angle. He said Stark wanted to get into a business with larger financial possibilities.

"I don't blame him a bit for that," said Frick. "He's a grand fellow and I want to see him get along. I am going to try to keep him if I can, at least for 1936. He's one of our best men and I am not going to accept his resignation until I am sure he will not reconsider."

Stark has been mentioned as a possible successor to Bob Quinn as general manager of the Brooklyn club, if the job is not added to the responsibilities of Casey Stengel, field boss of the Dodgers.

"I don't know about that," Frick said. "But if it is so, I'll be delighted to say all the nice words I can about Stark."

LEGION NAMES TOURNEY SITES

MACON, Ga., Jan. 27.—(AP)—Four divisional tournaments will be held in Georgia this year as preliminaries to determine the winner of the American Legion sandlot baseball championship.

In accordance with a program arranged yesterday by Legion officials, the tournaments will be arranged for south Georgia and two for north Georgia. The victors from the two sections will meet in a five-game series for the state title.

Albany and Macon were selected for the south Georgia preliminary play, and Carrollton and Elberton for the north. The dates have not been set.

W. A. Hodgson, of Athens, was elected chairman of a committee of 21 to make arrangements for the tournaments.

Grand Circuit Adds Four Weeks to Card

CLEVELAND, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Grand circuit stewards pointed tonight to a 15-week racing schedule for 1936, compared with 10 weeks last year, as evidence of increased popularity of trotting events.

They approved a schedule today which placed five additional dates on the 1936 program and another schedule authorizing Grand circuit events west of the Mississippi river for the first time in history.

The Wisconsin State fair at Milwaukee and the Ohio State fair at Columbus were added to the 1936 list, together with the Historic track at Goshen, N. Y.

The western events will be held in the fall at Pomona, seat of the Los Angeles county fair, San Diego and Phoenix, Ariz.

The schedule:

June 29-July 11 at Cleveland; July 15-18 at Toledo; July 20-22 at Historic track, Goshen; July 25-August 8 at Boston; August 10-15 at Goshen; August 18-22 at Springfield, Ill.; August 24-29 at Milwaukee; August 31-September 5 at Columbus; September 14-19 at Lexington, Ky.; September 21-23 at Pomona; October 5-17 at San Diego; October 19-November 1 at Phoenix.

Famous Pro Dies

Johnny Golden, famous golf professional, who died last night of pneumonia, was a favorite with Atlanta, having appeared here frequently in tournaments and exhibitions. Golden participated in the first Southern Open held in Atlanta in 1922, and also took part in the first Metropolitan Open, which was staged here in 1934. Three years ago, Golden and Sarason opposed Bobby Jones and Charlie Yeter in an exhibition here. Johnny competed in the two previous Master's tournaments held at Augusta.

George Blaeholder Sold to Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Purchase of George Blaeholder, right-handed American league pitcher, from the Philadelphia Athletics, was announced today by the Cleveland baseball club.

Blaeholder was obtained from Connie Mack at the waiver price of $7,500, club officials said.

Mrs. Orcutt Tied With Miss Miley

PUNTA GORDA, Fla., Jan. 27.—(AP)—Mrs. Maureen Orcutt Crews, of Miami, veteran competitor in national events, and Miss Marion Miley, of Lexington, Ky., western titleholder, were tied for the medal at 81 today in the qualifying round of the championship of champions golf tournament.

Paul Waner Goes Into Second Round

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Jan. 27.—(AP)—Paul Waner, the Pittsburgh Pirates' heavy hitting outfielder, whose 78 yesterday won him medalist honors, advanced easily into the second round of the Miami Biltmore left-handed golfers' tourney today.

Waner eliminated F. E. Williamson, of Chicago, 7 and 5, in his first match.

BOXING POSTPONED.

The boxing card billed for the Kila and Piedmont arena Monday night was cancelled because of the severe cold. The same card will be presented next week.

Cubs, Tigers Made 3-2 Betting Favorites

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 27.—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers and the Chicago Cubs, last year's winners, were made the favorites at 3 to 2 today in first odds posted by Tom Kearney, St. Louis betting commissioner, on the 1936 major league baseball races.

Kearney listed the St. Louis Cardinals at 3 to 1 and the Boston Red Sox at 2 to 1 in runner-up positions in the National and American leagues, respectively.

Figures quoted against each team's chances:

American League—Detroit, 3-2; Boston, 2; New York, 4; Cleveland, 10; Chicago, 30; Washington, 40; St. Louis and Philadelphia, 100.

National League—Chicago, 3-2; St. Louis, 3; New York, 4; Pittsburgh, 6; Cincinnati, 20; Brooklyn, 40; Philadelphia and Boston, 100.

FOUR ROOKIES TO MAKE BIDS AT HOT CORNER

Owen Determined; 36 Players To Train at Lakeland.

DETROIT, Jan. 27.—(AP)—A battle for the "hot corner" job in the Detroit Tiger infield next season is indicated by the roster of players the world champions will take south for the opening of spring training March 1 at Lakeland, Fla.

Thirty-six players are expected to report, among them four rookies infielders who are expected to bid strongly for the third base position which the veteran Marvyn Owen is determined to hold.

Gilbert Engle, who hit .328 last season, is given a good chance to land the position by Manager Mickey Cochrane. Scouts say he fields and bats in major league style. Glowing reports also resulted in the signing of Don Ross, with Beaumont in 1935, and Chester LaSha, who wallpiped the ball at a .334 clip last season at Port Wayne.

HOWELL BACK.

Millard (Dixie) Howell, former Alabama grid star who was with Detroit for a time last year, will be back. He fielded well during the 1935 spring training session, but was farmed out for batting experience.

Among the players obtained since the Bengals captured the World Series will be Al Simmons, purchased for $75,000 from the Chicago White Sox.

The roster lists 16 pitchers, three catchers, ten infielders and seven outfielders. Those asked to report:

PITCHERS—Elden Acker, Tommy Bridges, Alvin Crowder, Donald D. French, Joseph Saxe, Elton Hoenes, Chad Kinney, Steve Lamm, Roxie Lawson, Pat McLaughlin, Raymond Phebus, Clarence Phillips, Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, Vic Sorrell, Joseph Sullivan and Jake Wade.

CATCHERS—Mickey Cochrane, Ray Wertz, Frank Reiber.

INFIELDERS—Herman Clifton, Gilbert Engle, Charley Gehring, Henry Greenberg, Millard Howell, Chester LaSha, Marvin Owen, Bill Rogell, Don Ross, Rudolph York.

OUTFIELDERS—Hubert Bates, Pat, Leon (Goose) Goslin, Chester Morgan, Al Simmons, Gerald Walker and Joyner White.

WILLIE HUNTER WINS FINAL, 4-2

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Willie Hunter, of Los Angeles, blasted the heavily trapped Los Angeles course with sub-par golf on the last round and defeated Willie Goggin, San Francisco, 4 and 2, today for the San Francisco match play open title. He won first prize of $1,675.

Hunter, 1921 British amateur titleholder, set the pace that proved too swift for his rival as they entered the last nine of the 36-hole final.

Holding a one-up lead at the time, the slender pro ran his advantage to four holes as they reached the 30th, made it 4 and 2 at the 32nd and clinched the match on the 34th with a birdie 3. Goggin had remained in the running after the deadlock by winning the 33rd with a birdie 3.

Goggin drew down $337.50. The Junior Chamber of Commerce announced it had been thrown for a loss of $2,300 in sponsoring the tournament.

- MYSTERY HOUSE -

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

INSTALLMENT II.

"I might like it," Page said, her eyes dancing. "She might take a fancy to me, and leave me a fortune some day."

"She'll leave more than a fortune," Mrs. Hurler said in a half whisper. "One of the biggest diamonds in the world."

"Who has? Mrs. Hibbs?"

"Mrs. Prendergast. That's one of the things that's worrying Mrs. Hibbs. She wants to know when her aunt dies, who's going to get that diamond. Mrs. Hibbs' mother is the old lady's only sister; she's a Mrs. Roy. She lives in India somewhere. She wrote Mrs. Hibbs to be sure to have everything all understood about the pink diamond."

"A pink diamond? Thrills!" Page exclaimed.

Her husband, old Ruiger Prendergast, bought it years ago when he sold a mine or something. It's known all over the world. They say it's the size of a pigeon's egg. Anyway, the Hibbs will pay you a hundred a month for keeping an eye on it.

"Mrs. Prendergast, of course, is not to know that I've ever heard of them?"

"Oh, good gracious no!"

"She doesn't know that you know them?"

"I don't know them. I've only seen their lawyer, Bishop, twice. He came into my office about three weeks ago and asked me if old Mrs. Prendergast ever sent in to me for girls to go down there and work. I says no, that she kept Chinese help and I don't handle them at all. He says that if ever she did, please to phone him as there was something in it for us all."

"Well, my dear, you hadn't gone out of the office day before yesterday when a letter came from Flora Mockbee asking for a nurse, and it came to me like a flash that you was the one to go down there. So I phoned Mr.

Bishop and he come in and told me this whole story."

"It sounds kind of wild and weird," Page mused, aloud.

"Well, there's a telephone there, and there's always the doctor. She threw the local man out, Mr. Bishop said, some time last summer, and she's got a resident physician. And who knows? Mrs. Hibbs said comfortably, "you might like her! It'd be easy work; she's not sick, you know. And there's always the money."

"Change that," Page said, still slightly hesitant. "I'll go down there and see what's going on, anyway. And am I to report to you, or to Mr. Bishop?"

"Don't report to anyone unless there's something unusual going on."

"Me and Mata Hari!" said Page.

"It almost feels as if we might have a little shower," Page suggested pleasantly. The man laughed suddenly and abruptly, and glanced down at her as if for the first time he really saw her.

He did not see her very clearly. Night was black upon the little station platform. Belmont, and the rain was thudding down upon the umbrella he held against the wind over Page and himself.

He was Dr. Randall Harwood, old Mrs. Prendergast's physician; he had come down on the same train from San Francisco with Page, but they had not identified each other until the moment ago. Now, laughing, caught by the rain, they waited together for the arrival of the doctor's car. He was to drive Page to Mystery House.

"How far is it?"

"Mystery House? About—well, Halfmoon bay's 12 miles right over the hills, and then we have—oh, less than 20 more," the doctor said. "In pleasant weather it takes only an hour. But we'll have to go slow tonight. Ah, here's the garage station with the car. I'll take care of your bags."

It all sounded comfortable enough, as he talked along, but Page needed all the reassurance she could get. Only 6 o'clock, but the world was a pitch black wall through which occasional glimmers of light shone only to find puddles and the steady falling of rain, and the road to Halfmoon bay proved to be the most frightful she had ever traveled. It was steep, circuitous, narrow, and slippery. In the rain, it was unlighted and deserted. Page gripped her wet gloves in her lap, drew her knees tight, swallowed with a dry throat. But she gave no visible sign of fear.

"This is surely a rain!" the man said.

"Does it often rain as hard as this?"

"Well, you know California. I hope you'll enjoy Pine Point, Miss Hazeltine."

"Pine Point?"

"That's the real name of the place. It's just gotten the name 'Mystery House' because the old lady isn't very friendly with her carpenter, and the carpenter that she keeps at work, the changes in the place naturally spread talk. . . . Whoops, we're pretty nearly skidded off, there!"

Randall Harwood exclaimed with a little laugh, as the car took a sickening slip that brought Page's heart into her mouth. The wheels jarred, slipped again, jerked senseless up and down, and the car was dead across the narrow roadway now, with its back against the bank.

JUST NUTS

WHY DID YOU BUY A RETURN TICKET WHEN YOU ARE NOT GOING BACK?

THEY TOLD ME IT WAS CHEAPER

OH! OH!

"A pink diamond? Thrills!" Page thought.

"Well—housekeeper, anything, Miss Flora," the man said in an odd tone, and Page heard the little shiver of dry laughter that accompanied his words.

"Miss Flora's an odd girl, woman, rather. She must be 35—35. Moody, Unsatisfied."

"She's after the diamond!" Page thought.

The rain slapped and splashed about them in the darkness; toward the west, only a few hundred yards distant, the sea roared and surged on rocks. The night was about them like curtains of ink, without a light anywhere except the fiftful are of the car lights, piercing the dripping wall of blackness ahead.

A strange old woman in a lonely country house; unknown man; a Miss Flora who was odd, moody! Page began to feel uneasy.

"You'll find it a queer, mixed sort of household," the doctor was saying. "But you'll get us all straightened out by degrees. There's Mrs. Prendergast, of course, and Miss Flora. Ten there are the servant's, all Chinamen. They never come upstairs. And then there's Lynn. He's a sort of cousin, a protégé or nephew of the old lady, or the son of an old friend. I don't exactly know what Lynn is, and she won't talk about it. But he's a little queer."

"Heaven only me!" Page said in her thoughts. Aloud she added, in a somewhat quavering voice, "Queer."

"He had some accident, and a long illness, one of those mysterious cases," the physician explained. "No harm in him. A sort of amnesia. He just does not quite—click. He patters around with a boat, and sleeps out in the barn some more, but he has his meals with the family, and I didn't want you to be confused meeting him. It'll be just about dinner time when we get there."

"Dinner half past seven?"

"Most times. Now and then the old lady takes a fancy to having it earlier, or later. For awhile we had dinner at ten—the Chinamen stayed up late, and served the whole thing, soup and black coffee. Yes, it's kind of mixed pickles," the doctor ended, laughing. "I didn't know whether or not you knew anything about what you were getting into."

The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Fabray, Ph.D.

It is a surprising fact that in the ordinary combustion of coal in our stoves and furnaces we get less than one-millionth of the energy out of it and waste the rest. If we could burn coal so completely that all the energy would be released, we could heat the largest houses with one lump of coal the size of a pea for a year. Science will probably find a way to release more and more energy from burning substances in the future, but in the meantime we shall waste millions of tons of fuel.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

OLD KING WINTER.

II—Ice.

One little fact about ice is so important that it has done much to make our earth as it is.

The fact is this—water freezes solidly from the top down.

If it were the other way around—if water froze from the bottom up—we should have different ways on earth. The warm air and sweeping winds of spring and summer would not reach the ice so well. A little more ice would be left after each winter passed, and at last would come a time when even our seas would be frozen solidly. Probably only a few feet of the upper ice would be melted during the next summer.

"Is it gorgeous?" the girl asked.

"I've not seen it."

"Well, it must be," Page decided. "Perhaps the old lady is in love with simply."

"People know on account of the diamond, I suppose," Page answered simply.

"Oh, that."

"I've not seen it."

"Well, it must be," Page decided. "Perhaps the old lady is in love with simply."

"Think of the ways that would change things for us! Fish in lakes and seas of northern parts would die. As it is, they can live through the winter in the water under the surface ice, but we could not expect them to live after being frozen in solid ice for several months."

Salt water will freeze if the temperature gets cold enough. Fresh clear water will freeze at 32 degrees above zero Fahrenheit, but salt water must be several degrees colder than that in order to turn into ice.

The motion of the surface water keeps very large lakes and seas from freezing across, but there is not much motion deep down. If ice formed from the bottom up, it is likely that large sections of the ocean would be frozen solidly in the course of time. The ice would then need to take different routes, and the torrid zone no doubt would be the great highway of ocean commerce.

So we may be glad that water is keeping with its old-fashioned habit of freezing from the top down, and that the same habit may be expected to exist for millions of years to come.

Ice is lighter than water, and this does much to explain the manner of freezing. Push a piece of ice to the bottom of a bucket of water and watch it rise to the surface. It just will not stay down!

Most things on earth get smaller when they get colder. Take, for example, steel rails on railway tracks. They shrink in the cold weather, even small open spaces are left between the ends.

Water, on the other hand, expands when it freezes. There are little spaces between the ice crystals, even when they form what is called "solid ice." The open spaces make the ice of less weight than an equal amount of water.

Milk acts in the same way as water. Many a housewife on "zero days" has found that the milkman has left her a little more than a quart of milk—for, in freezing, the milk has risen up above the top of the bottle.
